TORNADO HITS FIVE STATES

EXECUTION HOUR AGAIN NEARS FOR BRUNO

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 3.—The reports coming in of delegates pledged to Governor Landon begin to make it look as if the Republican convention might not be the free for all that has been expected. For some time Landon has been well in the conversational lead and now a certain amount of the delegate strength that counts in lining up for him. Unless the other active candidates acquire enough votes to bring about a deadlock there is a fair chance that the uninstructed delegations will hasten to climb aboard what may seem like a sizeable bandwagon.

The results of the primaries could change the picture, but at the moment Landon has the edge.

He has spoken very little and is perhaps holding off for two reasons. One may be that he is letting the issues develop, the other may be that he is polishing up his delivery.

Colonel Knox not only makes a good speech but he has the best delivery among the Republican aspirants. The president, however, remains the only real spellbinder on either side.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

If you desire a quiet, secluded but yet picturesque setting, Cascade Park hits the spots this time of the year. Lawrence county's recreation center, which in several weeks will be the mecca of hundreds of persons, is now extremely quiet with just a handful of workmen engaged cleaning up the winter debris, during the morning and afternoon hours. But the beauty that makes the local park one of the outstanding summer resorts in the district is still quite obvious. The waterfall located near the gorge is even more beautiful now due to the recent high waters. The green grass, trees and flowers will soon make their 1936 debut to complete a perfect natural beauty.

Something should be done about the parking situation along the East Lutton street hill. During certain hours in the morning and evening, cars are parked on both sides. The narrow condition of the street, coupled with cars parked on the two sides, form a difficult problem for passing autoists.

One of the obstacles carried down stream by the recent high waters was a huge automobile top which Young Pa Newc saw jammed along the banks of the Big Run creek, Pennsylvania avenue, Thursday.

A lot of people might think that the weather man was treating us exceptionally cool, but a review of last year's temperatures, reveals that it was even a little bit colder a year ago today. As a matter of fact, the weather did not begin to get nice until the last week of April, and we had snow on the 15th and 16th of the month.

Hauptmann Is Again Scheduled To Die In Chair

Confusion Reigns As Hour Again Approaches For Bruno's Execution

DESPERATE EFFORTS MADE FOR NEW STAY

Preparations Are Being Made By Prison Keeper For Execution

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TRENTON, N. J., April 3.—Allyne Freeman, foreman of the Mercer county grand jury, today insisted that this jury which has saved Bruno Richard Hauptmann's life on one occasion, can still re-open its investigation of the charges that Paul H. Wendel is the real murderer of the Lindbergh baby.

This statement, coming in the confusion by the grand jury's adjournment and "discontinuance" of the Wendel investigation, led observers to believe the jury has still left Governor Harold G. Hoffman an excuse for another eleventh-hour reprieve, if he desires one.

Hauptmann is doomed to die at 8 o'clock tonight and final preparations for his execution have been made.

Colonel Mark O. Kimberling, warden of the New Jersey state prison, paid a visit to the office of Attorney General David T. Wilentz shortly before noon for the purpose of clarifying the situation as far as his part in carrying out the execution is concerned.

Last Desperate Appeal

Meantime it was reported the Hauptmann defense sent a desperate appeal for a new grand jury investigation of the Wendel charges in Hunterdon county. C. Lloyd Fisher, chief defense counsel, was said to have sent a telegram to Supreme Court Justice Thomas W. Trenchard demanding a Hunterdon county grand jury be convened to consider the Wendel case and that Hunterdon county prosecutor, Anthony M. Hauck, be superseded by a special prosecutor.

Hunterdon county was the scene of the Lindbergh murder and the trial of Hauptmann took place there at the county seat, Flemington.

Fisher also sent a telegram to Hauck, asking him to convene a grand jury. Hauck, when reached by telephone by International News Service, admitted he had received the telegram but added:

"I have formulated no reply as yet."

Party Leaders Indicate Maine For Alf Landon

(International News Service)

BANGOR, Me., April 3.—Party leaders today indicated the slate of thirteen delegates chosen to represent Maine at the Republican National Convention will swing to Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, after casting early ballot votes for Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago.

Sentiment of the state convention which selected the delegates was strongly for Landon. Colonel Frank E. Lowe, Portland, Knox supporter, said he felt Maine was obliged to support the Chicago publisher, a native of the neighboring state of New Hampshire.

The convention adopted a platform advocating old age pensions commensurate with need, freedom for radio and press, a balanced national budget and sound currency based on gold.

Civic Music Drive Ending

Campaign For Year's Memberships Will Be Concluded On Saturday

CONCERT SERIES TO BE ARRANGED

With the membership campaign of the Civic Music Association closing on Saturday night, April 4, it becomes increasingly apparent that there is a genuine demand here for cultural entertainment. Workers in the campaign report little difficulty in signing members but because of restrictions of time have been unable to call on as many people as they wished.

Miss Barbara Schulz, president of Civic Music urges citizens who have not been approached in the matter to drop in at headquarters in The Castleton Hotel and there they can get any information needed and necessary application blanks.

To Provide Concerts

The purpose of the campaign is to provide New Castle with a series of not less than three concerts next winter by artists of national and international fame. Only the best will be considered in selecting the concerts and the artists to be used will be announced at the close of the membership compaign.

These concerts will be available only to holders of membership in the Civic Music Association. Once the membership list closes the possibilities of hearing any of the concerts are closed also as no individual tickets will be sold. For this season it is important that memberships be secured before the close of the campaign on Saturday night.

Joe F. Replogle, chairman of the student membership fund announced today that students in the schools of the city who belong to musical organizations such as bands, orchestras, or choirs, could avail themselves of special group rates of one dollar each. Individual student tickets are $2.50 each. Adult memberships are $5.

A checkup meeting will be held tonight in the Hotel at which all team captains and workers are urged to be present. Through the medium of this campaign it is hoped to give New Castle such attractions as will add to the cultural life of the city and county.

'The Holy City' Is Witnessed By Large Audience

Soul-gripping Performance Of Events Surrounding Life Of Christ Is Given

TO BE PRESENTED AGAIN TONIGHT

More than two thousand people were present last evening when the first night's production of "The Holy City" was staged by the Valley of New Castle Consistory players, the large audience sitting in rapt attention as the soul-stirring drama of the days of Christ was unfolded before them on the big stage of The Cathedral.

They saw portrayed before them the bitter intrigues which led to the slaying of John the Baptist, because he denounced Herod and Herodias; and the crucifixion of Christ because he interfered with the corrupt practices of the scribes and priests, and aroused the fear of the rulers with his great following.

Last evening was observed as Lawrence County night, when the citizens of this community attended in great numbers to give those from a distance an opportunity to attend this evening without overtaxing the capacity of The Cathedral.

Cast Is Superb.

Many without tickets were turned away last evening, or it is probable an overflow audience would have resulted. Tickets of those from this community will not be honored this evening until 7:50.

Flakes Pile Up Half Inch Deep In Some Parts Of Western Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

Nature played a belated April fool joke on Pennsylvania today by spouting swirling snowflakes over the state and putting the skids under the mercury.

The fall was heaviest in Western Pennsylvania where the flakes piled up to a half-inch depth. They were only occasional over the central part and fell briefly over Eastern Pennsylvania.

At Pittsburgh the temperature fell to 24 at the airport but recovered to 32, the freezing point, later in the day. Harrisburg reported a low of 34 with the thermometer rising. Philadelphia was spared with a chilly 37 that soon went higher.

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., April 3.—State police as well as authorities of Butler and Allegheny counties have widened their search for Elmer Double, 65, of New Kensington, who is sought for questioning in the death of his sister, Mrs. Laura Double Kelly, aged 75, whose body was found in a well near her home in Worth township, Butler county, late Wednesday afternoon.

Police said the woman was slain in a woodshed about 75 feet from the well into which she was dropped 12 feet to the danky bottom.

Find Three Letters

In Double's abandoned automobile, parked in front of his home at New Kensington, police reported finding a pair of blood-stained boots and three letters. One of the letters contained Mrs. Kelly's saving book showing $7,000 deposited in a Slippery Rock bank and a promissory note for $700. Another letter was addressed to Double's son, Elmer, Jr., advising him of a new account opened for him at a New Kensington bank in the amount of $120 and requesting him to sign the signature card. The third letter, addressed to his wife, contained his

FUND WILL GO TO MEN IN FLOOD AREAS

With final reports almost in, the total of the flood relief subscription among the employes of the Shenango and New Castle Works of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company amounts to slightly less than $4000, according to Harry Davies and Henry T. Jones, presidents of the Employes Representative Associations in the respective plants.

In the recent flood several of the tin plate towns were hit hard. Among them were Vandergrift, Martins Ferry and McKeesport. Mr. Davies and Mr. Jones made trips to some of the stricken cities and found that many tin workers had suffered heavy losses by the flood waters.

Immediately the men of the two plants here volunteered to aid in any way they could and a subscription fund was started. From the top to the bottom of the plants the men came through handsomely. Today Mr. Davies and Mr. Jones, speaking

NEW YORK, April 3—Strained to the breaking point, spent by her two weeks battle to evade the embrace of Sing Sing's electric chair, Vera Stretz today awaited the handing over of her life to a general sessions court jury.

Mrs. Reimold stated that she had been requested Wednesday by Mayor Charles E. McGrath to submit her resignation, as he desired to later appoint another person to the position.

His secretary asked the mayor a reason for the request and she claims he told her that while she had been very efficient, he did not believe that a married woman should hold a position in city life.

President Is Moving Towards Florida Coast

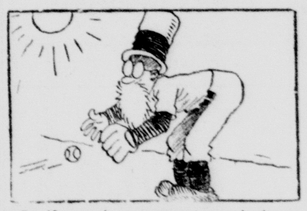

(International News Service)

MIAMI, Fla., April 3.—Moving slowly toward the Florida coast, President Roosevelt's fishing flotilla was anchored off Andros Island today, near Middle Bight.

This noon, a navy plane was scheduled to hop off from Miami to contact the White House yacht Potomac at Andros with official mail.

Most important in the pouch was the bill just passed by congress which extends for one year the section of the federal housing act permitting federal underwriting of home repair and improvement. It was anticipated the president would sign it and return it in the next batch of official mail.

Y Campaigners Report 506 Members; $912 Cash; In First Drive Totals

The largest first-night report of any Young Men's Christian Association membership campaign in New Castle was posted Thursday night as the corps of ambitious solicitors, meeting for the first time since the 1936 drive began Tuesday night, gathered in the "Y" to chalk up this progress:

A total of 506 of the goal of 800 members subscribed.

A total of $912 of the goal of $1,000 cash turned in.

Memberships with a total cash value of $2,726—memberships of a cash value of $5,000 is the goal.

Encouraged and all the more enthused because of the opening report, the teams busied themselves today with additional solicitation. They were canvassing prospects not seen before.

Tonight at 6:15 in the banquet hall at the "Y", the second report dinner will be held.

General Chairman Joseph R. McFate, General Secretary R. L. Meermans and other campaign leaders were "mighty confident" that this evening's report will push the totals away past the established goals—no sir, they're not going to mind that!

Only 294 additional memberships and $88 in cash are needed to top the goals of this year's campaign.

Lively spirit again prevailed at

NO FLOOD CONTROL FUNDS

Copeland Bill Virtually Killed

Can't Get Flood Control Money From Work-Relief Funds

MUST PROVIDE FOR FUNDS ELSEWHERE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The Copeland bill, proposing to take $500,000,000 from the $4,880,000,000 work relief fund to construct flood control projects, was virtually killed today when the budget bureau disapproved it.

Acting Budget Director Bell announced there was only $25,000,000 unallocated money left in the fund. All the rest of the $4,880,000,000, Bell said, had been allocated to some relief purpose.

Bell disapproved the bill, because its passage was "not in accord with the president's program." This meant it would be vetoed by the president if enacted.

Need New Appropriation.

Senator Copeland (D) of New York, said the budget bureau's decision meant congress would have to appropriate new funds for flood control projects.

"When the pending flood control bill is finally enacted, we will need from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 for the first year's work on a national program to halt the devastating damage of floods," Copeland said.

He referred to the $308,000,000 bill pending before the senate commerce committee. It passed the house last year but has been revised . It originally authorized $370,000,000 of new projects.

Further committee action was delayed pending a report from army engineers on 38 projects, costing $130,000,000, which might be used for development of electrical power.

SECRETARY TO MAYOR QUITS

change Mayor McGrath confirmed the report that he does not believe a married woman should hold a city position and said the trend has been that way in city and school life.

He praised Mrs. Reimold's efficiency and said he believed it best if she should be allowed to present a formal resignation rather than for him to go into council meeting and recommend a release.

Mayor McGrath also stated that he did not intend that she should resign immediately. He was willing to allow her to work several weeks, he reported. Mrs. Reimold confirmed this, stating the mayor had asked her to stay for as long as six weeks.

Additional Changes

In speaking of the occurrence, Mrs. Reimold said she felt under the circumstances that the only reason for the requested resignation was the fact she was married, and she did not feel as though she should stay for several additional weeks.

When she did not appear for work today the mayor instructed Miss Marjorie Davies to perform the duties temporarily, and stated that he proposed to hold the position open for at least another 24 hours.

He said that the request he had made his secretary had not been made public. He said he had not spoken of the proposed change to anyone except Mrs. Reimold. However, he confirmed the report yesterday when The News asked if the report was true.

According to City Hall reports, Miss Maxine Gillespie, a stenographer, will be the new mayor's secretary. Under existing ordinance the mayor may make the recommendation and a majority vote carries. No doubt she will be elected unanimously.

The change in the mayor's office is the third change in city paid positions since the first of the year. Changes have been made in the office of the sealer of weights and measures and also in the assessor's office.

James Rae succeeded A. Reid English as the sealer of weights and inspector of measures, and John Cartwright, city assessor, was succeeded by A. C. Shoaf and G. Albert Patterson was named as assistant to Shoaf.

The office of the sealer of weights and inspector of measures is under the jurisdiction of the mayor. He made this appointment. Councilman James L. Fink recommended the changes in the assessor's office.

It also has been learned that within the near future another change will be made. It will see Chris Walker, motor mechanic, being succeeded by Charles Colnot, according to reports.

There are rumors of other changes in City Hall. However, the city officials in some instances say that their moves have not been decided upon or that reports concerning certain persons were made without authority.

eleven o'clock this morning he was "going ahead with preparations" for the execution of Bruno Richard Hauptmann at 8 P.M. tonight—"as the matter stands now."

Colonel Kimberling's observations followed a conference with Prosecutor Erwin E. Marshall of Mercer county. It was the grand jury of this county which first prompted Hauptmann's stay last Tuesday so it could probe the so-called "confession" of Paul Wendel to the kidnaping of Baby Lindbergh, and climaxed its performance last night by voting to adjourn without taking action against Wendel.

"Foreman Allyne M. Freeman of the grand jury has given me to understand that the grand jury will make no further request for a delay of execution," Kimberling said.

He intimated, however, that the execution might hinge on any opinion given him by Attorney General David T. Wilentz whose prosecution of Hauptmann resulted in the Bronx carpenter's conviction and death sentence.

"I have just received from Prosecutor Marshall," he said, "a statement on the present status of the case, so that I can go further to the attorney general for legal advice."

There has been no request—"from any source"—that the execution be further delayed, Kimberling concluded.

company's offices and then "bounced" along the ground, venting its full force on only about every other block or so, until it lifted from the ground near the county home, approximately four miles from the point where it struck.

At the points where the storm hit with full force the buildings were entirely demolished.

Roofing was stripped from practically all the houses in the four mile path, trees were twisted and felled, trucks and automobiles overturned. Several of the main streets were blocked with the debris of fallen walls.

Adding to the confusion and terror, electric current was turned off to prevent fire from fallen wires, and rescuers seeking victims in collapsed dwellings were forced to toil in darkness.

Hospitals Taxed

Every ambulance in the city was stationed in the wind-battered section today, and hospitals were taxed to capacity.

The identified dead are Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy, crushed to death in their collapsed home; Mrs. W. Raymond Johnson, and her neighbor, Mrs. C. W. Bain, 45, killed when their homes crumbled like cardboard houses and three negroes, William Ward, 21, J. W. Powell, 60, and Mrs. Oscar Torian, 42.

Many of the injured, including 9-year-old Garland Jones whose skull was crushed, and Mrs. John W. Sparrow who suffered a pelvic fracture, are not expected to survive.

The known death toll in the five states ripped by the vicious twister was known to be at least 37 early today.

Many Injured

Sixteen were dead in Cordele, a city of 6000 population in Southern Georgia, hundreds injured, four so seriously they are not expected to live, and at least a thousand persons homeless.

Other Georgia communities reported seven dead, many injured. R. H. Riner, Georgia state director of commodity distribution for the FERA, declared in Atlanta that in addition to the injured at Cordele between four and five hundred persons were injured elsewhere in the state.

Two deaths were reported in South Carolina where the shrieking winds raked the counties of Allendale, Hampton, and Barnwell. One death, in addition to the toll here, was reported in North Carolina. More than 1000 residences and a number of textile mills at Concord, N. C., were damaged. One fatality was reported in northern Florida.

There was one known fatality in Alabama, at the village of Gordo, at Hannah, Ala., the 100-mile gale demolished the one-story residence of W. T. Porter. But Porter, confined to his bed with a serious illness, was uninjured as the walls of the house crumbled, the roof whisked away.

It was feared the death toll would mount considerably as rescuers combed the ruins of levelled homes, especially here, and communication was established with isolated rural districts.

Red Cross officials immediately took charge of relief work in the stricken states, aided by militia and state relief organizations.

A capacity crowd, many coming from Butler, Beaver, Sharon, Youngstown, O., Pittsburgh, and other surrounding cities as well as the immediate vicinity, attended the installation ceremonies and banquet held by members of Martha Shrine, No. 14, Thursday evening, in the Cathedral. The affair was one of the most outstanding and delightful events on their seasons schedule. The East lodge room, where activities took place, was beautifully decorated, adding to the impressiveness of the ceremonies.

The entire setting was developed in a color theme of yellow and white, in keeping with the approaching holiday, with clusters of choice yellow and bronze snapdragons forming centerpieces. These were flanked on either side by tall candles of the same hues, and individual Easter favors, marked the guests places.

Mr. And Mrs. L. E. Hough To Celebrate Jubilee

Fifty years of wedded life will be celebrated Tuesday, April 7, by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Hough, who reside near the old paper mill. For their jubilee day they have planned an open house for relatives and friends from two to four in the afternoon and from eight to ten-thirty in the evening.

At six o'clock there will be a jubilee dinner for the immediate family and close friends. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hough are well known in and about New Castle and the event will undoubtedly attract many.

They were married in New Brighton on April 7, 1886, but lived at the time in Beaver Falls. In 1888 they came to New Castle and have lived in the same house since coming here. For many years Mr. Hough was manager of the New Castle Paper Mill. They have one son, C. E. Hough, of New Castle.

NEW GARDEN FORUM PLANS ARE DEFINITE

Definite plans for the formation of a Garden Forum in the New Castle area were discussed at the April meeting of the Lawrence County Garden club Thursday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. W. C. Eckenroad, on Fairfield avenue.

A meeting of all Garden clubs in Lawrence county will be held for the purpose of completing the new organization, Monday evening, April 13, at 8 o'clock, in the auditorium of North Street school.

Other business transacted under the direction of the president, Mrs. C. A. Ingals, was the adoption of a new project for 1936, the planting of cercis canadensis (red bud) throughout Lawrence county. As chairman of the school committee, Mrs. William Howley reported on the progress being made through the schools, in the choice of school flowers and a city flower.

After the reading of the creed by Mrs. Eckenroad, roll call met with hearty response, the subject being, "Wildflowers Which Should be Protected." An inspiring display of early spring blooms added interest.

For the program, Mrs. E. W. Greiner presented in a most interesting and informative manner, the theme, "Birds," a timely subject as many of the first harbingers of spring are already here.

She gave an account of a bird project which was presented in program form recently, at Terrace avenue school. This project set forth results of bird study over a six weeks' period, in unit form, and was developed through music, English, and art work by pupils of Grade 4A. The work was done under the supervision of Miss Helen Green, art teacher, and Miss Emma Gibbons, music teacher, working with Miss Anna R. Perry, principal.

Very interesting information was further given by Mrs. Greiner, concerning different bird calls. These were made more realistic by Mrs. J. C. Miner, an authority on birds who was a special guest, playing on the piano many various representations and whistling. She also showed colored pictures of "feathered friends" which are regularly seen in this vicinity, while others inhabit other parts of the country.

The program which furnished a delightful period of relaxation, as well as being beneficial, was preceded by buffet luncheon at one o'clock, with Mrs. Eckenroad presiding over the service with her usual graciousness. With Mrs. Miner, Mrs. J. A. Edgar shared in the afternoon's pleasures as a guest.

For the May meeting, on the 7th, Mrs. Charles Greer, of North Jefferson street, will be hostess.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR THE "G MEN"

THERE will be little criticism of the House Appropriations Committee's recommendation that the Bureau of Investigation in the Department of Justice receive $6,000,000 more next year. Part of this money will enable the employment of 252 additional agents. The testimony of Director Hoover indicates that a substantial investment will be made in new armament to match the latest improvements in professional criminals' equipment.

Firearms of a new type, developed by criminals, have rendered useless the formerly bullet-proof vests and shields worn by Federal agents. Especially formidable are some armored cars seized in the underworld, which will have to be duplicated for the use of Mr. Hoover's assistants.

The praise for the Federal "G men" contained in the committee's report is well deserved. Since robbery of national banks and others included in the insurance deposit scheme has been made a Federal crime, a 46 per cent decrease in raids on banks has been recorded.

According to the committee, " a more healthy spirit of public co-operation in the apprehension of criminals now exists than at any time in the past several years." These are heartening words for those who are engaged in what seems, at times, to be a never-ending conflict with organized and strongly intrenched criminals.

LESSONS OF THE FLOOD

Receding waters have not made brighter the spectacle of devastation produced by one of the greatest flood disasters in the history of this country. Thirteen Northeastern states were affected in varying degrees. Loss of life has risen to more than 160; property damage to around $300,000,000. More than 200,000 persons were made temporarily homeless. Business, travel and communication were disrupted.

These conditions have imposed two imperative responsibilities upon the nation. The first involves the immediate relief of the stricken areas and their people. With characteristic sympathy and generosity, the country is rallying its resources to help meet the grave situation and the work of relief is going forward satisfactorily.

When the work of relief has been carried on to completion, however, and normal conditions have been re-established, the American people, if they are wise and far-sighted, will take up in a serious, enlightened and determined manner the basic causes of these recurring disasters.

Floods are caused by the ungovernable forces of nature and by the profligacy of man in dealing with natural resources. The processes of soil erosion continue without adequate remedial measures, and forests, so effective in retarding the run-off of water, have been destroyed.

Surely after the disastrous results of the recent flood, nothing more is needed to establish the urgent need of flood control operations and the prevention and repair of erosion.

PLAYS AND PICTURES

There is food for thought in the statement of Sidney Howard, president of the Dramatists' Guild of New York, that during the last nine years no new star has arisen from the acting profession to join the company of first ladies. Motion picture stars aplenty, yet—but nobody who apparently is to take the place of the present stars in the firmament of the drama. As an expert in both forms of dramatic expression Mr. Howard's words are worth pondering.

There is no need for mentioning names, but the young actors and actresses have a torch to keep aloft, as the revival of interest in the acting drama along Broadway sufficiently proves. "The road" has still to respond as a fertile field, but there undoubtedly is interest there, too, despite the overwhelming picture houses. The world that centers on Hollywood has even greater unreality than that led by Shakespeare. But it is more real for the oncoming generation unless a drastic change such as is portended on Broadway shall be effected generally. Who are to be the Helen Hayeses, the Jane Cowls, the Katherine Cornells of the future? Only the indomitable youngsters now keeping the fires burning can answer. It is up to them.

The best thing that has happened to play production, viewed from the standpoint of acting drama and not as an open sesame to ultimate picturization, is the fact that audiences are unquestionably hungering for good plays, ably enacted. Everybody, evidently, has not gone Hollywood.

MENACE OF DUST STORMS

There are sinister dust clouds in the Southwest. These storms of dust are doing more than create weirdly beautiful sunsets. They mean something in terms of the American Food Supply. They menace every American dweller in cities.

Out in the Plains Country they call them "Black Blizzards." These dry storms have lifted most of the rich, plant-feeding topsoil from 90,000,000 American acres.

Now they are beginning to start to the east of the old buffalo grass lands. They are nibbling at the western rim of the Corn Belt. A part of the Great Valley Granary of America may, in time, be threatened.

There always have been duststorms in the Plains Country. In the past they did little damage. The now wind-smitten country was grass-covered.

The Great War, in part, is blamed for the change. "Wheat Will Win the War," screamed the war posters in 1917 and 1918. The Allies needed wheat. Every farmer was urged to sow wheat and more wheat.

Lands never adapted to grain went under the plow. The immemorial sodlands of the range were seeded. So long as there was more than normal rainfall on these one-time range-lands there were few duststorms.

Then came the Great Drought, beginning in 1932 and blistering the fields of twenty states in 1934. The plains were passing from a cycle of wet years into a cycle of dry years.

There was hardly any rain in 1934. Grain withered. Cattle were rushed to killing pens from burned-out ranges. A few weeks ago the duststorms began to walk again over the plains. The grass is gone. The stubble is gone. The winds lays clawing fingers to the good earth and tears it away by the millions of tons.

Ham Fish is busily engaged in Borah's behalf and it is hoped that no one will go to the trouble of reminding him that he announced his own candidacy some months ago.

The Black Suit And Veil.
Betty Gow Prayed Hard.
Lindbergh Watched The Coal.
A Grave Almost Forgotten.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Boast not thyself of tomorrow; for thy knowest not what a day may bring forth.—Proverbs 27:1.

Millions listened to the radio and eagerly read newspapers for information of "Hauptmann's last hour." Betty Gow, a servant in the Lindbergh family who testified against Hauptmann, spent a great part of the night praying alone in her room. Her radio was turned on all night.

At 8:00 p. m. in Trenton, N. J., (it is 1 a. m., in Glasgow), the jail warden put away the new ten dollar black suit bought for Hauptmann to wear, in the coffin; Mrs. Hauptmann put away her new widow's veil.

THE LINDBERGH family remained secluded at Long Barn in England. British police turned away newspapermen, telling them not to come back, a mile from the Lindbergh house. Col. Lindbergh earlier watched a local coal man putting coal into his cellar.

Aroundw the prison in Trenton crowds joked, laughed, refused to believe that the latest reprieve was not a hoax. For them it was a holiday.

Elliott, the executioner, cheated out of his $150 fee by the reprieve, was philosophical. They will send for him again.

ONE EDITOR compares "Jersey justice" and Hauptmann to the cat playing with the mouse before killing it," "Jersey justice" being the cat. Another writer says the Hauptmann case reminds him of a Chinese torture that killed the victim slowly, letting drops of water fall on his head at intervals.

An end will come to the Hauptmann case, even an end to "reprieves" and "stays." Meanwhile it is interesting to see newspapers print to many sympathetic pictures of the Hauptmann baby. A picture of the

YOU'VE GOT AN EQUITY

Once upon a time, perhaps, you bought a house....Paid a little down every month, a tiny bit on the principal, quite a chunk for interest on the loan....Sometimes it seemed you'd NEVER get that house paid for. What with taxes and repairs and insurance and other expenses, you didn't seem to own very much of it.

But it WAS your house. You could speak of it as My House. You had an equity in it. You weren't renting, you were owning....Smart fellows could sit down with a pencil and a piece of paper and prove that it would have been "cheaper to pay rent"....But what if they could? A man has a feeling about his own house that he can't get from a stack of rent receipts. Perhaps it IS depreciating in market value, perhaps he'll never get out of it what he's paid into it, but it HAS gained in value with the years....Your equity has grown and eventually you'll own all that home of yours.

Houses aren't the only things you can build up an equity in. Lives are like houses.

When you're young, you haven't much of an equity in your life. You have been clever and ambitious, but your character hasn't been fully tried. You have friends, but you have tested neither their friendship for you nor yours for them. You haven't lived with yourself long enough to know just what you really are. Your equity is very small. You may not even know you have one.

But your equity grows. You suffer and you bear your grief. You meet as many of those claims upon you as you can. You find yourself able to bear the more important of your responsibilities. You test a few of your Opinions and prove that some of them are Truths....And whenever you do that, or examine a Talent and prove it as a Power you add to your equity.

That grows and you become a Man or a Woman. The bigger your Equity the stronger you grow, until at least even Death cannot take away what you have won from Life.

THE REAL PURPOSE

The man went out to fashion things
Of sturdy slabs and slender springs
That she with spices from afar
Might weekly fill a cookie jar.

He thought he worked for bits of gold,
And would have laughed had he been told
That, really, as the days went by
He toiled her whims to gratify.

He talked a lot of wealth and fame,
But what he really wished to claim
And worked for was in weather bad
To see his children warmly clad.

Had he but had himself to please,
He might have lived a life of ease,
But working for their every whim
As last made quite a man of him.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:26. Sun rises tomorrow 5:40.

The Hints and Dints Man has been off this job for several weeks and we fear we cannot do as well as the two editorial room gentlemen have done during our absence. So here goes for the worst.

New Castle has suffered much from carpet baggers who come here and shoot off their bazoos at every bit of public improvement that is contemplated in this city. The thing to do with those bimbos is to throw them out of the nearest window if the door is further away.

A garden is a good thing to make. It is a joy to see things grow and the things one raises taste better than any other kind. Now is the right time to plan a garden.

JUST REVERSED!

A farmer who was a witness in a hog-stealing case seemed to be stretching a point or two in favor of the accused.

"Do you know the nature of an oath?" the prosecuting attorney roared.

"Sure," came the reply.

"Do you know you are not to bear false witness against your neighbor?" he bored in.

"I'nt not bearin' false witness agin' him. I'm bearin' false witness for him," was the astonishing reply.

The state of Florida allows thousands of slot machines to operate and the state gets a percentage of the money they take in and that is the way the school teachers get their pay. It is surprising the number of suckers that play slot machines. We have not heard of any school teachers kicking on taking that kind of money.

Here is an interesting little experiment you might work out on your friends. The contributor insists it will work almost every time, in case the victim doesn't know about it beforehand.

First write on a piece of paper these words:

One
Two Three Four

Then ask the friend to cross out one of the numbers without thinking.

You will find, insists our friend, that nine times out of ten, the number three will be crossed out. So to make it more interesting, write the words: "Why did you cross out the number three?" on a piece of paper and as soon as he has crossed out his number, hand it to him.

It will be a bit mystifying if it works. If it doesn't, well that's something else.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

By FRANCINE MARKEL

DEAR Miss Markel—I have difficulty in selecting becoming colors for my 16-year-old daughter. She has medium-brown hair, dark-brown eyes, black lashes and eyebrows, dark skin with very little coloring. Could you suggest a becoming shade that she might select for an evening dress?

Answer: The colors at the lower end of the spectrum are becoming to brunettes. They are yellow, orange and red. Of course, this does not mean that she is limited to these three. She may wear, becomingly, any tints or shades that are derivatives of them, such as rust, burgundy, rose, flesh, salmon, gold, cream, peach, apricot, burnt orange terra cotta, etc. She may also wear smoke gray, bronze, brown, beige.

The colors suitable to blond and titian types are those at the upper end of the spectrum: violet, indigo blue, green.

Your daughter should avoid all blues (except navy, which is becoming to all types), especially that known as "royal" or "electric," which is devastating to brunette skin. Violet, too, will make her look very sallow.

Canary yellow is one of the most effective shades for a brunette. This would be ideal for an evening dress for your daughter's color type. Greenish yellow should not be included among her colors.

Urge Better Housing.
Labor Federation Speaks.
Sharecroppers Plight Sad.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NOT MUCH PUBLICITY has been given to recent proposal of the American Federation of Labor. It urges a permanent federal housing authority, of non-partisan makeup. Appropriations then would be asked for housing for persons in lower brackets. The houses will be built by workers in the building trades at prevailing wages.

Representative Henry Ellenbogen of Pittsburgh, Pa., has such a housing bill in the house. It probably will be smothered. Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, with a bill less comprehensive, cannot get it through the senate.

The lobby against federal housing is one of the most powerful in Washington.

Of the millions spent by the Roosevelt administration, less than 1 per cent has gone toward housing for persons of the lowest brackets.

SHARECROPPERS

A scandal of the first water faces the administration. Evicted sharecroppers in Arkansas have been left to starve by WPA and Rural Resettlement officials locally. Washington stresses "local officials". It says it is powerless to force the local officials to act.

Now, charges are being made that the local officials were appointed in deference to Senator Joseph T. Robinson, majority leader in the senate, and Washington fear to antagonize them. The senator, however, is reported to have urged the local officials to give relief.

Why Washington should fear Senator Robinson or the local officials, nobody knows. Arkansas is a strongly Democratic state, and Robinson is far weaker in Arkansas than President Roosevelt.

The tenants charge they were evicted from plantations because they joined the Southern Tenant Farmers' union. They add, to make everything appear "regular", officials offered them places on other plantations upon "starvation conditions". They say the plantations offered are so poor little could be raised. They insisted upon being reinstated at original plantations. They then were listed as "refusing to work" and denied food and relief.

It is dangerous to defend evicted sharecroppers or to be a witness for them. Nightriders invaded a home and killed one witness before his wife.

A conference was called the other day in Washington by Gardner Jackson, chairman of the National Committee on Rural Social Planning, to try to effect a means of forcing local officials to be just.

"Whether Washington knows it or not," said Mr. Jackson, "local AAA directors, appointed from national headquarters, have tolerated abuses which the government should be the first to condemn."

The abuses, however, are as nothing to a farm program that does not take into full account the actual status of tenant farmers and sharecroppers. Nothing really can be accomplished until these virtual serfs are freed economically—and that is a tremendous problem.

CENTRALIZATION

Talk against centralization of government in Washington has died down the last few weeks.

There is a reason—the floods and the dust storms (again).

No single state will be able to solve this tremendous problem, local pleaders are saying.

But the federal government cannot solve it either, unless it is given tremendous powers, and unless it disregards some few private interests for the benefit of the whole.

Scientists fear that any further delay may do two things:

(1) Bring on still more devastating floods.

(2) Turn an immense part of America into a desert.

LATEST CHARGE

The latest charge against large power firms — especially those in which Andrew Mellon reputedly is interested—is that they have been instrumental in blocking flood control in the watersheds above Pittsburgh.

If so, they have been caught in their own meshes—for the damage to power plants in the Pittsburgh district has been large.

The allegation is that the power corporations fight government flood control dams because they generate electric power. And such power would undersell private power.

RELIEF

No state insists upon states' rights when it comes to relief.

The pressure from flood-stricken states—among the most powerful in the union—for relief indicates an increasingly large permanent federal burden.

When such large industrial states as Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia demand a comprehensive federal relief program—and make those demands prior to a national election, as now—you may be sure there will be relief. Whether there will be a far-seeing program is another matter.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

FARM MACHINERY

"Deering" is the name by which the Moline plant of the old Deering Company is known.

"Deering" as a farm machinery name is well remembered by all farm folks in America for more than sixty years.

The last surviving male member of the family, Roger Deering, died recently in Albuquerque, N. M. It was his grandfather, William Deering, rugged native of Maine, who invested $40,000 in a harvester manufacturing business in Evanston, Ill., now a surburb of Chicago, soon after the close of the Civil War.

It was in 1880 that this business began a phenomenal expansion due to the manufacture of a grain binder which used twine for binding instead of the wire used in Cyrus McCormick's invention.

The McCormicks and Deerings were competitors in harvesting machinery until 1902, when the two manufacturing concerns merged into the International Harvester Co.

William Deering, early in his career began aiding a struggling school in Evanston, now Northwestern University. The family kept up these gifts. One of the bequests of Roger Deering was for $7,000,000 to the University.

But the name "Deering" will no doubt remain among farm machinery manufacturing concerns for many years to come.

Today's Yesterdays—April 3, 1639—Sir Fernando Gorges, 74, was confirmed by English royal charter as the lord proprietor of the province of Maine.

He, not Sid Walter Raleigh or the sponsor of the Pilgrims' migration, was the father of English colonization in America. For 40 years he was active in fostering emigration to the New World; his Council at Plymouth (England) which sent out Capt. John Smith years ahead of the Pilgrims, was the foundation of all the grants made in New England.

April 3, 1682—Bartolome Esteban Murillo died at Seville, aged 64, from injuries received in a fall from a scaffold while painting an altarpiece. Paintings for which this immortal Spaniard received a few hundred dollars, today sell for hundreds of thousands. His most famous picture, the Madonna, in the Seville Museum, was painted in the absence of canvas, upon a table napkin!

April 3, 1790—Congress again began its endless legislation of benefits for men from the army and navy. It passed an act providing pensions for disabled soldiers. Since then soldier and sailor pensions have cost the United States government more than wars!

April 3, 1882—Another legend was born. Authorities and most of the people of St. Joseph, Mo., believed that Jesse James was shot in the back by two of his pals, Robert and Charles Ford, who were anxious to collect $10,000 reward on his head.

However, years later, it was told about that Bob and Charles enabled Jesse to escape to Arizona by shooting a tramp, and hoaxing authorities into believing it was the body of Jesse. Arizonans even today believe that the "dead" Jesse James ranched for many years on the Gila River as Jesse Williams.

After Jesse' death of disappearance, his brother in crime, Frank, became a detective!

It's True—Charles Vienot won a contest in Rouen, France, by eating! 2½ pounds of fish, 2½ pounds of chicken, 2½ pounds of mutton, a pan of white beans, a whole cheese and 29 assorted pieces of other cheese, six apple tarts, four bottles of wine, four bottles of cider.

Still hungry after eating in one day eight steaks, two plates of stew, 23 slices of bread, nine eggs, two dishes of peaches, 12 cups of coffee, and 12 pieces of pie, Howard Miller asked Kansas City, Mo., doctors to "to something about it." He weighed 130 pounds

Tony Di Leurentis, Hatboro, Pa., ate 130 large apples and two pounds of spaghetti at one sitting and was ready to top it off with a gallon of wine.

Nicholas Wood, Englishman, ate a whole sheep at one meal. Stories of the feat were received so skeptically that he put on a public demonstration and devoured a whole hog, a peck of plums, bread, butter, heese and milk without stopping.

But none of these are in a class with Field Marshal Mattias Gallas, Prussian, who had such a big stomach he had to support it with a wheel barrow.

New Store Front To Be Revealed

Remodelling Work At Reynolds, Summers And McCann Store Completed

STORE INTERIOR ALSO IMPROVED

Sometime Saturday morning the board coverings will come down from in front of the store of Reynolds, Summers & McCann on Washington street and for the first time the new display windows will be shown to New Castle buyers. Without any question the new windows are the finest of their kind in western Pennsylvania and through them the firm will be enabled to display merchandise in the most approved modern manner.

For weeks New Castle artisans have been busy. The old windows were torn out and the depth increased by about 15 feet. A general description of the new windows would be a "center aisle L shape", with an irregular contour running down each of the inner sides.

The center aisle has been floored in modernistic terrazza done in black, silver and rose. In the ceiling is a countersunk dome light of new design which will flood the entrance way with a diffused light.

From the ceiling to the top of the windows is a fluted frieze in plaster while the top of the windows is a black carrarra glass valance trimmed in silver. The base of the windows is of black carrarra glass while the firm name above the windows is a silver sand blasted name on a huge strip of black carrarra glass and the whole thing illuminated with a red neon sign.

The interior of the windows are surpassingly beautiful. The sides are done in oriental walnut, a wood rarely seen except in the finest furniture. Overhead are 57 200-watt electric lights so placed that they cannot be seen from the outside but flooding the windows with an illumination that will bring the merchandise out in sharp relief.

Once the windows are uncovered for public view New Castle will see a set of display windows that smack of metropolitan advertising.

The windows were selected only after a careful survey by Frank Summers. He visited New York, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Youngstown and Akron and after inspecting the finest display windows in those cities selected the best features of each and had them incorporated in the Reynolds, Summers & McCann windows.

In addition to the new windows, the interior of the store has been redecorated and re-lighted. Changes have been made in the arrangement of the merchandise cases and on Saturday the store will open its doors with an establishment of which New Castle will certainly be proud.

small stone standing above what was left of the Lindbergh baby would be an appropriate reminder.

JAPAN AND Russia have passed from the "warring" stage to border fighting, Mongolians doing the fighting on the Russian side. Planes, war tanks and heavy artillery are taken across the Manchukuo border by Russia, and that "looks like business."

Russia will soon know how much Mongolia will be worth as a protection against Japan, and Europe may soon know the value of Russia as a protection against Asia.

LATER Western Europe may learn what value there is in Germany as a protection against Russia. If no war comes of all this, the world may thank its guardian angel.

RUSSIA'S message to Japan is practically an ultimatum; Japan knows who supplied tanks and airplanes used by warriors of "Outer Mongolia."

Russia reminds Japan that she has an army of more than 1,000,000 ready, and that is not as important as the fighting planes and submarines that Russia has at Vladivostok within easy striking distance of Japan's coast, her cities and her factories.

YOU HAVE seen a boy swing a pail of water around his head, "centrifugal gravity" keeping the water from falling out.

Science discovers that this "centrifugal" force may offset 1,000,000 times the ordinary Newtonian "centripecal" gravitation. If a boy could swing the pail around his head sixty thousand times a minute, he would create a centrifugal force 250,000 times as great as the force of gravity.

Science sees great possibilities in the invention of Prof. The Sveberg, a Swede.

The late Professor Michelson showed that matter, in motion, weighs more than at rest; he would like this machine that causing one ounce of matter to whirl, as has been done, 160,000 times in a minute, make that ounce weigh sixty thousand pounds instead of one ounce.

NOTHING is more fascinating than speed possibilities. The ting hummingbird, that flies non-stop across the Gulf of Mexico in its journey from Central America, north to Saskatchewan, according to Herbert Ravenel Sass, flaps its little wings two hundred times in a second. Try to do that with your arms.

Mr. Sass's article in April "Good Housekeeping" magazine, will interest you.

THE PRESIDENT, on Tuesday, landed "a mystery fish" No one knows its name, so it will be sent in solid ice, to the Smithsonian Institution for identification.

The fish is about five feet long, weighed 27 pounds, and the President, whose mood is always cheerful, when fishing, is said to have remarked that he did not know of any Republican candidate of that size and shape.

AT PRESENT he is fishing over a "hole" called "the tongue of the ocean," 30,000 feet deep, surrounded by coral reefs. The DEPTH of that hole in the ocean is about equal to the HEIGHT of the stratosphere journey made by Dr. Piccard.

Fish brought up from the "hole" die and sometimes explode for lack of pressure. Men going up six miles would die if they did not take breathable atmosphere with them.

Living at the bottom of our air-ocean, we are not so different from fish at the bottom of their water-ocean.

AT BROCKTON, Mass., Miss Virginia McRae, athletic and beauty instructor, working for the government in the WPA, is showing unemployed American ladies how to "restore natural curves to oversized bodies."

Her class of fifty is happy. Some Americans wish somebody in or out of WPA would start class showing how to "restore natural curves" to 1929 pocketbooks.

Delegates To Canal Hearing Have Returned

Lawrence County Group Presents Testimony In Behalf Of Waterways Project

EXPECT HEARING WILL END TODAY

All of the delegates representing Lawrence county attending the hearing on the construction of the Lake Erie-Ohio river canal via. the Pittsburgh - Ashtabula route over the Beaver and Mahoning rivers in Pennsylvania, and the Mahoning and Grand rivers in Ohio, have returned from Washington.

The delegation representing New Castle-Lawrence county, headed by Louis G. Genkinger, president of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, was as follows: Hon. W. W. Braham, judge of Lawrence county; Hon. Wm. McElwee, solicitor for Lawrence county commissioners; Thomas H. Hartman, president of the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company, representing the banking interests of New Castle; B. F. Butler, representing New Castle city council; Charles H. Johnson, Jr., representing business interests of New Castle, and the New Castle Chamber of Commerce; Emanuel Shenkan, past president of the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce, representing New Castle's mercantile interests; Carroll Miller, representing the Crescent Portland Cement Company, and Alfred W. Chilton, secretary of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce and secretary of the Beaver, Mahoning & Shenango Rivers Improvement association.

Hearing Opened Monday

This hearing before the board of army engineers for rivers and harbors began at 10 a. m. Monday, March 30, the initial meeting being held in the Munitions building, but the large delegations attending made it necessary for them to hold all of the other sessions in the auditorium of the Interior building.

Large delegations from other districts representing the proponents of the canal and urging the board of army engineers for rivers and harbors to concur in the recommendations of the district and division engineers, were present from Pittsburgh, Beaver and Mercer counties in Pennsylvania, and Mahoning and Trumbull and Ashtabula counties in Ohio.

The presentation of those testifying before the board for the delegation from Pennsylvania was conducted by Hon. Charles R. Eckert, congressman from the 26th Pennsylvania congressional district.

Those testifying for New Castle and Lawrence county were: Hon. William McElwee, Thomas H. Hartman, Louis G. Genkinger, B. F. Butler, Emanuel Shenkan and Alfred W. Chilton.

The proponents from all of the several districts affected finished their testimony late Tuesday afternoon, with the opponents then appearing, of which were delegates representing the Allegheny river route and several routes in Ohio. The major opposition, however, came from the railroads through the Upper Ohio Valley association.

The proponents of the canal from the Ohio district were presented by H. H. Hoppe, attorney at law, from Warren, O. Also technical witnesses sponsoring the construction of the Lake Erie-Ohio river canal via. the Pittsburgh - Ashtabula route who testified on its economic justification both for transportation and as a flood control medium, were Theodore Brent, waterways expert, of New Orleans, La.; George Massey, vic epresident of the Randolph Perkins Engineering Corporation of Chicago, who assisted in the construction of the Panama canal, and David Warner, secretary of the Ohio state water conservation board.

It is expected the hearing will be concluded today, at which time allowance will be permitted for rebuttal arguments, but as these arguments will be confined to technical phases, it was not deemed necessary for the New Castle delegation to remain until the end of the hearing.

Virginia Will Support Landon

(International News Service)

CULPEPER, Va., April 3.—Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas was assured today of at least two of Virginia's delegates to the Republican convention in June.

Five hundred delegates to the eighth district convention here unanimously endorsed the Kansan for the presidential nomination.

It is probable that Landon will have most if not all the Virginia delegation. One of the eighth district delegates is Ex-Rep. Philip Campbell, who served for years in the house from Kansas, and now makes his home in Arlington county. Campbell said he would fight at the state convention for a unit vote for Landon.

"The fact that a woman has given birth to quintuplets is not absolutely unusual in itself. Aristotle mentions the case of a woman who gave birth to quintuplets four times consecutively. The French physician Bandoin who made a special study of the problem toward the close of the 19th century mentions about 100 such cases, and several new cases have been recorded since 904."—W. N. WIDEN SEARCH FOR BROTHER OF SLAIN WOMAN personal check of $100, according to Butler County Detective Paul Smith, who is investigating.

The letters were found several hours before it was known that Mrs. Kelly had been slain. Rex Reiter, son-in-law of the missing man, left the house in New Kensington at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning for work and noted Double's car parked in front of the home. He presumed he had arrived late and had gone to bed.

Search Car

Later other members of the family including his wife, son and daughter became anxious over his non-appearance and searched the car. They immediately instituted a search of his haunts in New Kensington, fearing foul play or suicide.

Mr. Double had been staying most of the time with his sister at the farm home near Jacksville since the death of her husband, Thomas C. Kelly, which occurred in January, 1935. On Wednesday afternoon, Elmer Double, Jr., and Rex Reiter decided to drive to the Kelly home to question their aunt about the elder Double's whereabouts.

They found no one at home and went over to a neighbor's house, Mrs. Mabel Connell, for information. During a thorough search of the premises, Mrs. Connell pulled up the cover of the well, revealing the body of Mrs. Kelly, head downward in the water.

It was thought at first that she had drowned but when the body was removed it was found that she had suffered terrible blows on the head. Part of her skull and brains were missing, and a discolored mass of blood and bone was later found in a corner of the barnyard 75 feet from the well.

Her brother was last seen near the scene about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. He drove away from the farm at that time, picking up a hitch-hiker, Charles Taggart, who attends high school in Slippery Rock. He evidently arrived in New Kensington late Tuesday night. He was seen sometime Wednesday morning in a veteran's club there, it is reported, but since then has disappeared.

The victim was highly esteemed in the district where she had spent her entire life. She was moderately well-to-do but is said to have kept very little money in the house. Nothing in the home was disturbed and the lethal instrument which caused her death has not been found. The well was drained yesterday without result and a very thorough search has been made of the premises and the surrounding district.

Funeral services were held today for Mrs. Kelly at the United Presbyterian church at West Liberty. Interment was made in the West Liberty cemetery. Her two brothers are her only survivors.

LAWTHER WILL GIVE UP PLACE AS TITAN COACH

basketball coach, would retain his professorial rating next year but not his coaching status.

It was assumed at the end of last year's football season that Coach Tom Gilbane, Brown university graduate and protege of Coach Tuss McLaughry, would return to his coaching post for the 1936 season. It is rumored, however, that Gilbane has accepted another coaching position in an Eastern school. Luby Di Meolo, line-coach during the 1935 season, and former Pitt All-American, was thought by some to be a possible successor to Gilbane. But both coaches passed out of the picture today with Dr. Galbreath's decision to secure a full-time coach for both sports, basketball and football. Gilbane was interested only in football, and not in basketball.

President Galbreath said today that within two weeks he expected to present names of prospective coaches to the athletic council and the board of trustees for their approval.

President's Statement

President Galbreath's statement made Thursday is as follows:

"For some time, rumors have been afloat regarding the athletic program at Westminster for the coming year. A full statement is hereby given.

"At the close of the football season last November, the athletic council recommended that Coach Tom Gilbane be invited back for the coming football season. This met with the sympathy of all concerned except for one serious consideration.

Intimation had ahead been pointedly given that the position of Professor John Lawther, who for several years has been full-time coach of basketball and also head of the Department of Education in the college, was objected to strongly by the rating and educational agencies of which the college is a member. Professor Lawther, forced to make a decision, decided to retain his professorial ranking rather than to continue coaching alone.

"The present plan is to secure a full-time coach who will carry both football and basketball. Several promising applicants have appeared and a decision will probably be made within a short time.

"Mr. Gilbane is a specialist in football and not interested in the two-part sport position, so has withdrawn from the field."

President Galbreath's statement spikes the rumor that Westminster would probably abandon football this fall for an intra-mural program.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

No Labor Party Lewis Decrees

Time Not Ripe At Present Time President Of Mine Workers Believes

MAY BE STRONG IN FOUR YEARS

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S street

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 3.—While this does not appear to be the right year for a new political party to make much of a start, if any, there are signs of the birth of a new one in time to make a formidable showing in 1940.

In fact, John L. Lewis' declaration that he is unwilling to support a labor party movement during the coming campaign strongly implied that he may be willing to do so four years hence. Any movement to which the United Mine Workers' president finally does give his support unquestionably will be a movement of plenty of importance; nothing in which Lewis takes an influential part is to be regarded otherwise than seriously.

If such a party does evolve itself it probably will be a farmer-labor party rather than exclusively a labor party.

SWING AN ELECTION?

When Lewis launched his fight for the reorganization of labor out of craft and into broad industrial units it immediately was apparent that a setup of the type he contemplates could not long keep out of partisanship, as the A. F. of L always has succeeded in doing.

And that he is progressing rapidly with his industrial unionization program is obvious.

If he attains his expected 30 to 40 million membership (in all industries) and if the outfit votes as a unit and if the farmers then are added to his alignment—can he swing an election?

FARMERS INDIVIDUALISTIC

I have no doubt Lewis will effect unionization, maybe not to the immediate tune of 30 or 40 millions, but running into substantial figures.

I'm not so sure of the farmers; they are an individualistic crew.

Still, it is conceivable. There is a farmer-labor party already, with a senator, a quarter of a dozen representatives and a governor—a nucleus, for as high-powered an organizer as John L. Lewis.

Yet even Lewis cannot assemble a majority of America's votes on too exceedingly short notice. A couple of years probably is none too long an estimate for his consolidation of industrial unionism, plus a year or two longer to annex the farmers.

Lewis' account is that he is satisfied for the present with President Roosevelt and wants to re-elect him—after which he will have "no commitments."

My own guess is that he does not deem the time ripe for a third party.

It isn't.

NOT A GOOD NAME

"Farmer-labor" isn't an overly good name for a political party.

Many folk who work for a living are not farmers and are not recognized by labor as laborers, but only as white-collarites.

"Where do they get off at?" speaking colloquially.

However, maybe John L. Lewis will hit on some more inclusive designation.

The right terms are "conservative" and "liberal" the conservatives shading off into reactionaries and the liberals into radicals.

The dividing lin is not clean-cut.

As Secretary of State Cordell Hull (a liberal, I think) once remarked to me, when in the senate, "About 75 per cent of our side are right and 25 per cent are wrong; about 25 per cent of the other side are right and 75 per cent are wrong; there isn't an exact distinction."

The situation in 1940 will depend on conditions in the meantime.

If there is a bulge in business and employment (employment and wages especially) there will not be a chance for a new party—John L. Lewis' or any other left wing leader's.

Contrariwise, a new group may decide the 1940 election.

HORSESHOES

HARRISBURG, April 3.—Twenty million pounds of horseshoes are manufactured in the United States every year and they are not all tossed at "pins."

PREPARE FOR CONTEST

Robert Hogue, baritone, members of the high school mixed quartet, and members of the double mixed quartet are practicing every day in preparation for the Northwestern District music contest to be held in Greenville, April 8-9.

These contestants all took first place in the county contest held in the Bessemer high school gymnasium last Saturday and will now compete for district honors. Winners in the district will compete in the state wide contest in Pottsville.

HONOR ROLL ANNOUNCED

Twenty-three high school students placed on the roll of honor for the sixth period at the local high school, announces Walt Whitman, supervising principal. Professor Whitman further reports that this number is an increase over previous periods. The honor roll includes:

Senior Class—High Honors: Jane Kerr, Eleanor Marshall, and Funston Spear. Honors: Walter Cheers, Jean Nevin, and Chester Edminston.

Junior Class—High Honors: Mildred Cheers. Honors: Grace Elder, John Galbreath, Herbert Minich, Elizabeth Robins, and Nina Jane Smith.

Sophomore Class: High Honors: Aileen Cheers, Howard Dinsmore, and Mary Martha Orr. Honors: Beth McLaughry.

Freshman Class—High Honors: Margaret Orr. Honors: Esther Axe, Wendell Blevins, Mary Kathryn Bott, Paul Cornelius, Howard Frew, and Betty Yahn.

Reports from Professor Whitman indicate that high honor students have an average for the period of 95 percent or higher while honor students must have between 90 and 95 per cent.

RED CROSS CONTRIBUTIONS

Dr. Hugh M. Hart, New Wilmington Red Cross representative, announced that a total of $481.72 was sent to the Lawrence county Red Cross office in New Castle as a contribution from New Wilmington and Westminster college.

In a drive for funds at Westminster last week by the Student-Council members a total of $223.81 was gathered from students and faculty. The remainder of the $481.72 was contributed by people in and around New Wilmington.

TEMPLE BUILDERS TO MEET

The Temple Builders of the Presbyterian church will hold their monthly meeting at the church on Wednesday, April 8. A tureen dinner will be served at noon and the remainder of the day will be spent in quilting.

WILL GIVE JOINT RECITAL

Lois McGill and Lowenne Swindler, both graduates of New Wilmington high school, will present a joint junior piano and violin recital Tuesday evening, April 7, in the college chapel.

Both Miss McGill and Miss Swindler are continuing their music work at Westminster and the recital promises to be one of outstanding merit.

PLANT IMMUNITY

HARRISBURG, April 3.—Plants, like human beings, become immune if they recover from a disease caused by virus.

"Boondoggling" Job Was Not All Lost

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 3—"Boondoggling," the butt of many a joke on national work relief, was credited with saving lives and property in at least one instance during the floods that swept Pennsylvania.

The city of Muncy, in common with a score of other communities in the state, had its worst flood since that of 1889, Miss Martha C. Brittain, assistant Muncy postmaster, wrote in a letter received here.

A battery radio set provided the only news of the outside world when power lines were crippled and bulletins were taken over the set and posted in the post office window.

Further havoc was spared, Miss Brittain wrote, when Glade Run, a hitherto troublesome stream, stayed within its banks. "The reason was," she said, "that Glade Run within the past year has been 'boondoggled,' for which Muncy gave thanks."

THINKS LENT SHOULD BE MADE SHORTER

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—The 40-day lenten season should be shortened in order to conform to the busy tempo of modern life, in the opinion of Rev. David M. Steele, rector emeritus of the Protestant Episcopal church of St. Luke and the Epiphany, and should be crowded into an intense and religious observance during holy week.

Present day living has resulted in a "languorous" keeping of the penitential period, Dr. Steele declared, suggesting that more spiritual benefit would be derived by most people if they could concentrate on a single week of the season. He pointed out that lent has been shortened from 60 to 50 days to 40 days during Christian history.

RESULTS OF "FLU" SOMETIMES WORSE THAN THE DISEASE ITSELF

Railroad Man Thought He Had Entirely Recovered From Attack Of "Flu," But Examining Doctor Refuses To Permit Him To Return To Work.

"About three months ago," states Mr. Charles Murphy, who is an engineer on the Pennsylvania Railroad, "I had a bad case of 'flu'. I suffered terrible pain with high fever, and aching in all the joints of my body. Of course, I had to give up my run, as I was in bed for nearly four weeks. By that time the fever had gone down, my throat was not sore any more, I was not in pain and I thought I could go back to work.

"According to railroad rules, I had to go to the company's doctor to be examined to see if I was all right again. He went over me very carefully, but I supposed it was just 'red tape' like we have so much of in railroad work. However, when he was through he said that the 'flu' had effected my system, weakened my heart, and impaired my eyesight. He could not let me go back to work. He said for me to go home and come back again after a good rest of, at least, two months.

"I was very discouraged because we have a big family with seven children, and I did not see how I could afford to lose the time. And, from the way the doctor talked, I could not feel right sure that I ever would be really well again. On the way home I stopped at the drug store near our house. The druggist told me to try World's Tonic. He explained that this wonderful new medicine is made from roots and plants gathered in different parts of the world, each in its own right season. He made it clear to me how an Irishman like myself, as well as Americans, often is sick for lack of elements needed by his system, which no ordinary American medicine seems able to supply.

"Evidently World's Tonic supplies me with these missing elements. I noticed a wonderful change in the way I felt, almost with the first dose. World's Tonic gave my system a good thorough cleansing, and then, as I kept on taking it, I began to feel the tonic effects, which came gradually as my body absorbed the much needed elements. At the end of the month I felt so good that I knew it was safe to ask the railroad doctor to re-examine me.

He told me that he was absolutely astonished at the way I had got back my health so soon. The impurities had left my system and my heart was as steady as a clock, my eyesight was as good as ever. I told him that it was World's Tonic which had rebuilt my strength and he said that a great number of other railroad men had told him the same thing. He let me report back for work that same day and I have been on my run regularly ever since. I have not had a bit of heart trouble or any other weakness. Except for World's Tonic I might never have gotten well." World's Tonic is on sale at Eckerd's; Paisley's, and other modern drug stores. (B-78)

REPORT HAILE SELASSIE'S TROOPS RETREAT

Second Defeat Now Reported

Italians Report Counter Attack Of Ethiopians Result In Defeat

CASUALTIES ARE REPORTED HEAVY

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

ASMARA, Eritrea, April 3.—Turning angrily upon the Italian forces dogging their retreat, the imperial guard troops of Emperor Haile Selassie have suffered their second defeat within two days, dispatches from the front said today.

Ethiopian losses—set at 7,000 in Tuesday's battle—were again heavy in the second encounter, which occurred Wednesday.

Twenty white Italian soldiers and four Askaris (Africans) were killed and many Askaris wounded.

When the emperor's men made a tentative counter-attack near Mencan Pass against the Askaris, Italian Alpine troops rushed to the rescue and crushed the attempt.

The retreat of the emperor's forces continues, with speedy Italian units closely pressing the Ethiopian rear guard.

Pymatuning Dam Not For Sportsmen Says Welfare Head

SHARON, Pa., April 3.—Dr. Edith MacBride Dexter, state secretary of welfare, assured civic leaders today that the prime purposes of the Pymatuning Dam are water conservation and flood control and not recreational facilities for sportsmen.

She said:

"The general welfare of the Shenango Valley is foremost in my mind and nothing in the line of recreational activities should cause a deviation from the functions of the Pymatuning reservoir, as outlined in the act under which it was built."

"Every possible consideration should be given to ways and means of protecting the interests of sportsmen but where such interests conflict with the general public welfare, they must be relegated to second place."

Estimate Thirty Dead In Tornado That Hits South

Tornado Lashes Way Through Southern Area, Damage Mounts To Millions

(International News Service)

CORDELE, Ga., April 3.—Between 30 and 40 persons perished early Thursday when a tornado lashed its way across residential sections of this southern Georgia town, according to estimates of authorities directing relief operations.

Upwards of 100 others were injured, and property damage was estimated at half a million dollars.

NEGRO KILLED

(International News Service)

DAWSON, Ga., April 3.—One negro was killed and numerous buildings demolished early today when a tornado raced through a farming section near here. One other person was reported seriously injured.

TRAIN DERAILED

(International News Service)

CHATWORTH, Ga., April 3.—The locomotive and several freight cars of a Louisville and Nashville freight train piled up in a ditch near here early today when the train plowed into a washout on the railroad.

First reports were that no one was seriously injured.

HOUSES BLOWN DOWN

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., April 3.—National Guard headquarters here Thursday reported that approximately 70 houses were blown down by the tornado which struck Cordele early this morning, claiming at least seven lives.

Adjutant General Lindley Camp said that Major Usher Winslett had been ordered to Cordele from Macon, Ga., to make a quick first-hand survey and report to him what was needed in the stricken area. Gen. Camp said he ordered Winslett to the scene at the request of Gov. Eugene Talmadge.

Democrats Battle For Nomination As Ohio Governor

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., April 3.—For the first time in years there will be no contest for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, but the May 12 primary will find Gov. Martin L. Davey, Kent, and Congressman Stephen M. Young, Cleveland, waging a bitter fight for the Democratic nomination.

Attorney General John W. Bicker, Columbus, will be the G. O. P. candidate for governor in the November election. His only primary foe, Dr. W. C. Kimble, Defiance, adherent of the Townsend pension plan, withdrew when the Republican state organization challenged his nominating petitions. Dr. Kimble promised to head a third party ticket in the general election.

Seldom does a governor seeking a second term find such formidable opposition in his party's primary as confronts Governor Davey. The executive's frequent brushes with the Roosevelt administration are offered by most observers as one of the major reasons for the candidacy of Congressman Young, a "100 per cent" Roosevelt man.

While Bricker, assured of the Republican nomination, can save his campaign thunder for the general election, Davey and Young promised enough political fireworks to satisfy everyone.

PRAISE SNOW CREWS

HARRISBURG, April 3.—Hundreds of letters are being received by the State Department of Highways complimenting workers on the able manner in which roads are kept open despite the winter's frequent blizzards.

Mother Of Steel Magnate Is Laid To Rest In Grave

Funeral Service Held Thursday For Late Mrs. Pauline Farabaugh Schwab

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 3—From the church built by her famous son in tribute to her memory, the 93-year old mother of Charles M. Schwab, steel king, was buried at Loretto Thursday in a solemn ceremony.

The entire personel of St. Francis College and numerous friends from far and near crowded the historic St. Michael's Catholic church for the solemn high mass of requiem sung for Mrs. Pauline Farabaugh Schwab.

Rt. Rev. Mons. James P. Saas, rector of the edifice, erected by Schwab as a memorial to his parents, conducted the services. He was assisted by Rev. John Barry, Pittsburgh, related to Mrs. Schwab through marriage, the Very Rev. T. J. Sullivan, president of St. Francis college and John Hacala, seminarian at St. Francis.

Schwab was present for the services and left for New York immediately after burial.

Mrs. Schwab died several days ago from pneumonia after protracted illness.

SAYS GOOD WEATHER IS CRIME PREVENTIVE

(International News Service)

CINCINNATI, O., April 3.—Good weather makes a good man!

At least mild summer weather is a contributing factor to reduced crime, according to a report by Dean K. Ruth, secretary of the Cincinnati Regional Crime Committee.

Ruth said there were a number of reasons for the decrease but that the agreeable weather of the past summer aided in the decline while the intensely hot summer of 1934 tended to cause an increase.

Order a Sack of

OCCIDENT FLOUR

If you do not agree that it gives you the finest baking you ever had, your grocer is authorized to refund the full purchase price:

The reasons back of this guarantee are:

Occident Flour is made from "hand-picked" wheat—a quality start for a quality product.

All Occident wheat is thoroughly washed and scoured before milling—just as you wash and scour your vegetables at home before you prepare them.

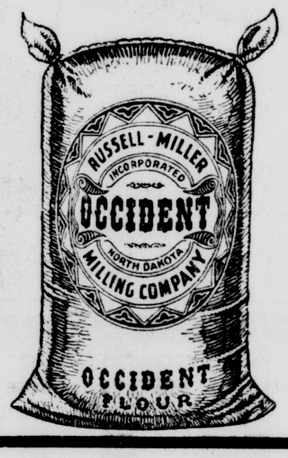

Occident is milled by an exceptionally long process—refined again and again to eliminate the possibility of failure in your baking.

YOU'RE TO BE THE JUDGE!

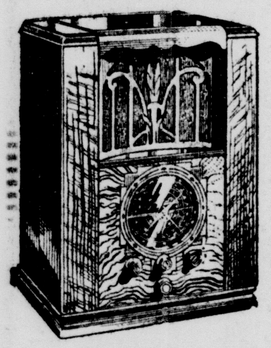

But all of this preparation for improvement of your baking doesn't mean a thing to you unless the flour produces results right in your own kitchen. So we make the above offer of a money-back guarantee through your grocer.

● Try it yourself and see (remember, without a penny of risk on your part) why Occident Flour costs a little more—and is worth it.

SPONSORED BY THE ART CLUB

PLAN PITTSBURGH TRIP

The U-Hi-Y club is planning a trip to Pittsburgh either the second or third week in April. Chief interest is centered on a baseball game or a tour of the broadcasting station, depending on the weather. The club is hiring a bus for transportation.

Plans are also afoot for the joint Girl-Reserve and Hi-Y dance to be held in the school's gym sometime in the near future.

Next Wednesday the club expects to hold a meeting in the Y. M. C. A. the program being furnished by Henry McNichols with a swimming tournament afterward.

PALETTE CLLB MEETS

The regular meeting of the Palette club was held Wednesday, March 25. The president, Harold Duncan, called the meeting to order after which Dorothy McCart called the roll.

Mr. Young said the next paper would be a hundred percent better all around because of the new equipment bought by the club. He also brought out that the club party will be held April 3, in the Y. W. C. A.

SENIORS HAVE MEETING

The seniors held one meeting in the past month and the main business was to select the person in whose honor the annual will be dedicated. There were several suggestions made but nothing definite could be decided upon so it was finally decided to take a vote. Each member could vote for any two persons in the school that they thought the annual should be dedicated to and as a result the Annual will be dedicated to Miss Tucker and Mr Smythe.

The remainder of the meeting was taken up by a discussion about getting "dinks." A committee was appointed and they will see to it that the money for the "dinks" will be properly collected and taken care of. This is the first time in Union that any class has done anything of this sort.

SCHEDULES DISTRIBUTED

Schedules showing the requirements for the courses and years were passed to the student body on Thursday, March 25. These are to be used to make out the schedules to be used by the students next year.

LIBRARY CLUB BANQUET

The Library club has decided to sponsor a mother-daughter banquet in the early part of May. This will be the first banquet of this kind to be sponsored at Union high and we hope it will be a success.

The membership of the club has increased very rapidly during the past few weeks.

We are very grateful for the number of books which have been donated to the school. The club is trying to make a much larger, better equipped, modern library than the present one.

WILL REPRESENT UNION

The following students have been selected from the senior class to represent Union in the annual state senatorial scholarship examination which will be held on Friday, May 1, 1936:

John Loth, James Smith, Ruth Murray, Juliana Merchant, Elverda Hallman, Henry Presnar, Dorothy Shaffer, Sara Paulini, Marion Chambers, Edwin Hodge.

AT BESSEMER CONTEST

Students of Union who competed in the county music forensic contest on Saturday at Bessemer are: Chester Gierlach, cornet solo; Russell Haggerty, baritone solo; Robert McKinney, tenor tenor; Thelma Whiting, soprano solo; a boy's quartet composed of David Duncan, William King, Leroy Todd and Rusell Haggerty; oration, John Loth; extemporaneous speech, Howard Cochran; debate, Howard Cochran, Ray Leonhardt and Robert McGrew.

PLAN MUSICAL COMEDY

The seniors and juniors have decided to give jointly a musical comedy this spring. The comedy has not been definitely decided upon as yet, but the date has been tentatively set for May 1. Mr. Duff is to be the general director, and Mr. Smythe the general manager.

GIRL RESERVES MEET

The Girl Reserves club recently decided to dispense with the monthly business meetings during a regular meeting and let the cabinet handle it.

The cabinet held a meeting on Wednesday morning, March 11, and plans to raise money to send a representative to the conference this summer were discussed.

Miss Dorotay Stewart, secretary of Y. W. C. A., was present and explained several methods of selling articles, such as jello, wax paper and initialed stationery. A girl was appointed to take charge of each article and the club as a whole is asked to cooperate in securing orders.

On Wednesday, March 25, Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, was our guest speaker. He delivered a very interesting talk on "Yellowstone National Park."

PALETTE CLUB VS. HI-Y

One of a series of three games of basketball was played Thursday, March 26.

This game aroused the usual rivalry existing between the two clubs and stirred up a great deal of spirit.

The first game ended in a tie, 18-18, but what the results of the series will be, will have to be decided on the floor Tuesday at noon.

Ostrosky, of the Palette club was high scorer with ten points. Heckart for the Hi-Y with seven points.

ART SUPPLIES BOUGHT

The Palette club has begun its purchase of necessities for the art department.

Thus far much of the additional equipment needed for the improvement of the school paper has been bought, and the editor and his staff are doing everything in their power to place the best paper of the year in your hands. This month the U-Hi News will be in two colors.

The equipment that we have is three lettering guides; four shading screens; color ink; four or five new styluses.

The club is buying a copying press for the use of art classes making etchings and block prints.

NOTES OF INTEREST

The Herf Jones Company has given three medals to Union high school. These are to be given at the end of the year to the student who is outstanding in scholarship, sports and social activities.

The Baush E. Lomb Company has presented an "Honorary Science medal" to Union high school. This will be given to the student outstanding in science.

The International Business Machine corporation will give a scholarship to a graduate this year. Ruth Murray is trying for this honor.

The skating party held Friday night at the Armory was a huge success. This recreation was sponsored by the Girl Reserves.

The season the name paisley is applied to a shawl is because the manufacturers of the shawls imitating the famous shawls of India and Cashmere in Asia first manufactured them in the town of Paisley, Scotland.

Hopkins Replies To Accusations

Makes Statement On Charges Politics Figure In W.P.A. Jobs

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 3.—If his own job can be attributed to politics, then there is politics in WPA, Harry L. Hopkins, administrator of the program which is spending $180,000,000 a month, said today.

"But I supposed that I am here because I believe in the policies of President Roosevelt," Hopkins added.

"It all depends on what you mean by politics," he said when questioned about charges by Senator Holt (D) of West Virginia; Senator Stiewer of Oregon, Senator Davis (R) of Pennsylvania; Rep. Hook (R) of Michigan; Henry Breckenridge, critic of the administration, and other opponents of the program that the WPA is "rife with politics".

"The implication of the charge," Hopkins continued, "always is that people get jobs because of political influence. I personally have yet to see any person who got his job because of political influence

"Of course, in the administration of WPA, we have to have people who believe in the program. We would be damned fools if we didn't. But I don't know of any case where a person in the WPA administration got his job that way."

Stiewer's attack was branded as "poppycock".

Deibler Reports Flood Effect On State Hatcheries

Says State Fish Commission Has Taken "Worst Trimming" In Its History

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, April 3—Reporting 1,000,000 fingerlings and 100,000 legal sized trout were swept away from the Pleasant Gap Hatchery and the famous Spring Creek project, Oliver M. Deibler, state commissioner of fisheries, told more than 200 Centre County sportsmen at their annual banquet last night that the state fish commission had taken "its worst trimming" in history in the recent floods.

He assured the sportsmen, however that plenty of good trout fishing would be available this year and the receding waters had revealed a large number of fish in the pools had escaped the flood.

Countless letters have been received from all parts of the country inquiring concerning the damage done by the flood at Spring Creek, known as "Fishermen's Paradise."

Luke 14:17—"Come, for all things are now ready."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The international uniform lesson on the above topic for April 5 is Luke 14, especially verses 15-24, the Golden Text being verse 17, "Come; for all things are now ready.")

Our modern etiquette writers are not the only authorities or even the leading ones, on the subject. If one's motives are wrong his manners must of necessity be affected by them. Therefore, right spiritual attitudes and motives are the first and most fundamental requisites of good manners. Why not consult Jesus of Nazareth on questions of good manners?

The Ill-Mannered Pharisees.

Was it good manners on the part of Pharisees that Sabbath day when Jesus was their invited guest, to watch him as they did? or to plant that dropsical man before Jesus to set a trap for him, knowing that Jesus' compassion would lead him to heal the man on the Sabbath? True hospitality certainly demands mercy, so when those who staged the party omitted it, Jesus supplied it by healing the man of his dropsy, and rebuking the unmerciful host and guests by asking "which of you shall have an ass or an ox fallen into a well, and will not straightway draw him up on a Sabbath day?" True politeness never puts property ahead of humanity and its needs!

The Ill-Mannered Guests.

Was it good manners on the part of those guests gathered there to watch Jesus to jockey themselves into the seat of honor at each table? Here were "social climbers" of the rudest and most ill-mannered sort. So Jesus said to them, "When thou art bidden of any man to a marriage feast, sit not down in the chief seat . . . but . . . go and sit down in the lowest seat. . . . For every one that exalteth himself shall be humbled; but he that humbleth himself shall be exalted." Unselfishness and humility are the chief requisites to good manners. There can be no true culture where these are missing!

The Ill-Mannered Host.

Was it true hospitality on the part of Jesus' host that Sabbath day to invite as his guests only those whom it paid to invite? Is not true hospitality devoid of that selfishness that has some "ax to grind" at the dinner table? Was it a breach of true courtesy for Jesus to remind his host of this, saying, "When thou makest a feast bid the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind: and thou shalt be blessed; because they have not wherewith to recompense thee." Must we always fall in with all that the party demands just to be polite?

Our Manners Toward God.

Here some pious "Hallelujah Brother" tried to change the subject by shouting "Blessed is he that shall eat bread in the kingdom of God." Instead of changing the subject, Jesus told a story to show how unlikely were their prospects for just that. They had indeed been invited by the prophets. Even now, through Jesus, the announcement was made, "Come; for all things are now ready, but they all with one consent began to make excuse." No reasons, but excuses! For we can never give God a reason for refusing his invitations! Buying and paying for a home is no excuse of irreligion. Business interest and putting over big deals are no excuse either. Nor are the duties of domestic life any excuse for those who say, "I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come." What rank discourtesy to God to make these excuses! No wonder he is angered and turns to more worthy guests "that his house may be filled".

England Seeks Breathing Spell

Issues Dramatic Call For "Pause" In Europe's International Melee

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 3.—Britain today issued a dramatic call for a "pause" in Europe's international melee while she strives to straighten out the dangerous tangle resulting from French and German immovability.

Censuring Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler for omitting a concrete "contribution for immediate negotiations from the German peace plan," Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons that consultations among the British, French and Belgian defensive general staffs would begin soon in London.

But a "breathing spell" that might serve to quiet continental jitters was sought meanwhile by the British government, he indicated.

School Board Is Granted New Trial

In an opinion handed down by Judge W. Walter Braham at court this morning a new trial is granted the Wampum school district in the case in which a jury awarded W. W. Weitz $2,110 for land taken by the school board. Following the verdict the school board asked for a new trial on the grounds that the verdict was excessive. As the case now stands it will be tried again.

YEARS OF SUFFERING WITH STOMACH, LIVER RELIEVED WHEN LADY GETS INDO-VIN

Had Such Terrible Gas Pains and Subject to Sick Headaches, Dizzy Spells; New, Scientific Medicine that Works With Sufferer's Food Gets Results Where Other Methods Failed.

Persons who suffer with the common ailments of stomach, liver and bowels should investigate the really amazing results local men and women, are getting from Indo-Vin, the new, advanced medicine. Sufferers from biliousness, indigestion and constipation are getting blessed relief. They are telling friends what Indo-Vin will do, so that crowds of people are daily visiting with the druggists at the Eckerd Drug Store, to get information about this remarkable medicine and to talk to the many people who have gotten relief.

Acts On Three Organs

How this medicine works to benefit the stomach, liver and bowels is best told in the words of those who have been helped by Indo-Vin. Here is a letter from a widely-known lady who has lived in this vicinity for many years. She is Mrs. Harry Baumgardner, Walnut Street, Lewistown, who says:

Gets Quick Results

"It is wonderful to be free of stomach misery. My stomach was so bad that nearly everything I tried to eat would turn into gas and boat inside of me and I couldn't eat a hearty meal like a normal person does, for my meals caused so much suffering that I was almost afraid to try to eat. My condition was awful and Indo-Vin was the first medicine in YEARS that had any effect on me, and it has worked the misery out of my whole body. My food never turns to gas and bloating inside of me any more and I can eat a hearty meal without suffering. I have now been free of stomach misery since I took Indo-Vin."

What Indo-Vin Is

Indo-Vin is nationally recommended by leading druggists, and contains a combination of ingredients found in no other formula. These ingredients mix with the food in one's stomach; often acts in 10 minutes to stop gas pains, sourness and bloating. It contains seventeen of the purest medical ingredients, and not one a habit-forming drug.

What Indo-Vin Does

It will bring out gases and intestinal impurities which may have been in your system causing you days, weeks or even months of misery.

It will help make the digestive organs sweet and clean, relieving headaches, biliousness, dizzy spells or lazy, drowsy, worn-out feelings; also helps avoid accumulations of impurities in the blood stream and kidneys.

Indo-Vin will make your STOMACH, LIVER and BOWELS more active, build you up in general and make you look, act and feel like a different man or woman.

And best of all, the cost is small. While it is being introduced here, anybody can take Indo-Vin for a few cents a day! This is a great medicine, but very reasonably priced, due to the immense volume in which it sells. So, if bowel trouble or stomach distress is keeping you in misery, it would certainly be a mistake not to try Indo-Vin.

AWAIT GREENVILLE CONTEST

Next Wednesday and Thursday, April 8 and 9, the New Castle band and orchestra will go to Greenville to take part in the Northwestern Pennsylvania music contests.

Wednesday morning the members will go by bus. They will enter in the alto solos, violin solo, viola solo, cello solo, trombone solo, baritone horn solo, string quartet and piano trio.

Thursday the band and orchestra will leave New Castle at 7 a. m. and return about 6 p. m., via the Pennsylvania railroad. They will enter in the Class A band contest at 10 a. m. and the Class A orchestra contest at 11 a. m. A French horn quartet, a woodwind quintet and a bass sextet will also be entered.

SPEED FOR DRILLS

Of course all students should be prepared at all times for fire drills but more so this week as the pupils have been informed that fire drills may be expected at any time.

In recent fire drills the pupils have been slow in their exit. This time let's give Mr. Orth and the state fire inspector a pleasant surprise by clearing the building in the allotted time. It can be done.

SENIOR PLAY ADVANCED

The senior play that was scheduled for April 24 has been changed to Friday evening, April 17. Although the title of the play has not been definitely decided upon, the committees have all been selected and have started their work. Miss Hartsuff is dramatic director and Mr. Nelson has been appointed general manager.

WILL BANQUET TEAMS

The student council of New Castle high school is sponsoring a banquet and dance for the football and basketball players sometime in April. The banquet will be held in the dining room of George Washington Junior high and the dance on the gym floor.

Our football team had an impressive season and we have a championship basketball team. Support the teams at the banquet-dance as you supported them at the games.

MAY PURCHASE TICKETS

Tickets for the Civic Music Association concerts may be purchased Saturday morning from Mr. Replogle. The price will be $2.50 for students. Members of the band and orchestra get a special rate of $1.00 provided a group of fifty or more go accompanied by their leader.

The Civic Music Association is a subsidiary of the National Broadcasting Company and is located in the Castleton Hotel.

These tickets include a series of three or more concerts given by artists of international fame.

YES! ANOTHER TROPHY!

Ne-Ca-Hi has certainly been getting its share of trophies. This week the office was the proud recipient of a pair of handsome trophies won by the basketball team, one for the P. I. A. A. semi-final and the other for the W. I. A. A. final.

These trophies show the need for a new trophy case as there is no room for them in the old case and they must be displayed in the office windows.

OUTDOORS AGAIN URGED

Once again Mr. Orth advocates fresh air as a good healthful tonic for the students. And who doesn't approve? Pupils should get out in the open air during lunch periods and take advantage of this great natural resource which can be had for nothing. Fresh air is invigorating and clears the mind so that one can go at his afternoon studies at full speed. It is noticed that many students take long walks during lunch periods and it would do no harm if many others did the same. Therefore, let's spend more of our leisure time out of doors. It will work wonders—even on your grade sheets.

INSPECTION SQUAD MEETS

Tuesday afternoon the inspection squad met in Study Four under the supervision of Mr. McKenzie. They discussed and perfected the new plan to keep the study hall desks free from waste material. In this plan the desks are inspected daily by the students who occupy them and those responsible for littering the desks are made to clean them. The squad believes that if the students are punished in this way they will not be apt to continue to use the study hall desks for waste-baskets.

SENATE SESSION

A regular meeting of the Latin Senate was held Friday, March 27. The main topics of the meeting were the admittance of two conscriptive members, James Lehman and Charles Kacmarcy, the presentation of certificates to the members who won Latin honors at the end of last semester, and also the initiation of two new members, Dorothy Ward and Pauline Lynch, who were not present at the regular initiation.

The main topic of discussion of the meeting was concerning the junior high school Latin tournament and it was decided that this would be held in the early part of May.

AT WORK ON ESSAYS

The girls in the advance cooking classes under the direction of Mrs. Healy are working on essays to enter in the "Chicago National Meat Contest." The essays are required work in all advance classes of cooking.

Two years ago a New Castle high school home economics student, Mary Eileen Wray, won a $50 prize and a scholarship to any home economics college in the country.

This is certainly a prize worth working for, and it is hoped that the honor will again be bestowed on a member of the Ne-Ca-Hi home economics department.

HI-Y CLUB GATHERS

Monday evening, March 30, the Senior Hi-Y club met at the Y. M. C. A. for a short business meeting. Following the meeting the members took the tests for the state Y. M. C. A. Bible contest. The club is now in fourth place in this contest but should return to the top due to fine attendance the last few meetings. The members believe the club should get many extra points for good grades in the test as they were very easy.

After taking the tests the members retired to the pool where swimming was enjoyed.

SENIOR B'S PICK COLORS

Monday, March 29, all the Senior B's voted for their class colors. Out of a list of different color combinations, blue and silver were selected.

The color committee was comprised of Sarah Kohn, Wilma McCann and Frances Stevens.

GIRL RESERVES ASSEMBLE

A meeting of the Senior High Girl Reserves was held Monday evening, March 30. The meeting was opened by President Peg England, who called on Leah Davis to lead devotionals. After devotionals, Janet Hartland read the minutes of the last meeting. Miss Stewart then discussed a trip to Pittsburgh on April 13.

After the business meeting the girls went to their various interest groups.

Last Pensioner Of 1812 War Dies

FRANKLIN, W. Va., April 3. — The last widow of a veteran of the War of 1812, Mrs. Lydia Ann Graham, who would have been 98 years old next month, is dead.

Mrs. Graham was the widow of Isaac Graham, a drummer boy in that war, who was born about 1790. The veterans' bureau last year described her as the only person "receiving a pension in the year ending June 30 for services performed in the War of 1812."

Common reaction to a book that shows the need of reform: "I don't like to read such depressing things."

Man Killed As Result Of Duel

Young Woman Who Attempts To Halt Bloodshed Is Slashed

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—As the climax of a duel to death between two men—knife against pistol—in the vestibule of a South Philadelphia house, one man was dead, another was under arrest and a woman was in a hospital suffering from stab wounds today.

Thomas Neher, 23, who had the knife, died of a bullet wound in the abdomen; William Cook, 28, his brother-in-law, was arrested on a homicide charge, and Elizabeth Owen, 26, who intervened in the argument in an attempt to prevent bloodshed, was slashed, according to police.

The row started, Miss Owen told detectives, when Cook accused Neher of neglecting two ponies which Cook owns. He had been paying Neher $10 a month to care for the animals, police said.

SEEK AID FOR MINERS HARD HIT BY FLOOD

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 3.—Gov. George H. Earle today asked Senator Joseph F. Guffey to take whatever steps might be possible to obtain aid for residents of the Pittston area where 6,000 miners and their families have been thrown out of work by flooding of five large mines.

The governor said Senator Guffey would confer with Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, and added he himself would go to Washington if Guffey advised him his presence there might prove helpful.

Action was taken by the chief executive on receipt of a report of the flood damage in the Pittston region by Michael F. Hartneady, secretary of mines. In addition to the 6,000 men thrown out of work, Hartneady reported, 15,000 dependents have been affected.

Equal Opportunity With Trucks Asked For U. S. Railroads

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 3.—A demand that "rail carriers shall have equality of opportunity" with competing bus and truck lines was made here today by Martin W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, in a speech charging modern highway transportation as "transportation by taxation."

Indirect and direct taxation for highways, Clement told the 40th regular meeting of the Atlantic States Shippers' Advisory board, supports " a system of commercial truck transportation." He added that 97 per cent of the private motorists pay additional taxes to the benefit of the remaining three per cent who operate the commercial carrier industry.

"The railroads have no quarrel with the truck," the Pennsylvania president asserted. "The railroads recognize that the truck has a big place in modern transportation—but we do call attention to the fact that "transportation by taxation" exists as a result of additional burdens placed on the taxpayers in general and on the private users of public highways in particular."

Clement suggested that "proper co-ordination of truck and rail is not only advantageous to the railroads, but to the automotive industry, truck operators and to the shippers in general."

Flood Havoc At Pittsburgh Seen By Dern

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 3.—Viewing with his own eyes the devastation and havoc wrought in the Pittsburgh district by the recent flood, Secretary of War George H. Dern today announced he favored construction of reservoirs in the headwaters of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers to prevent future catastrophes.

At the same time, the secretary gave unstinted praise for the courage and resoluteness exhibited by the residents of flood-ravaged Johnstown in emerging from their misfortune.

"I visited Johnstown yesterday and was impressed by the courage and resolite spirit in which its citizens returned to their tasks in reclaiming and reestablishing their homes and business," Secretary Dern said.

As Dern and Maj. Gen. Edward M. Markham, head of the U. S. army engineers, toured the local flood district for a first hand picture of conditions, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic floor leader, told congress President Roosevelt favors flood relief for the eastern states but was averse to flood control legislation at this time until a long range program, including reforestation, irrigation, navigation and prevention of soil erosion can be worked out.

Although this was taken to cast the influence of the national administration against any huge flood control program at this time, flood control leaders here said they believed it did not doom the omnibus flood control bill now before the senate commerce committee. Sen. Royal S. Copeland of New York, one of the co-authors, said this bill could be held within a $500,000,000 limit.

King Edward Promises Picture For Girls Here

King Edward VIII of England is sending his picture to four Mahoning township girls—the king himself promised it in a royal letter which the delighted group received from London on Wednesday.

The four girls, employed on a Works Progress Administration sewing project at Hillsville, wrote His Majesty about three weeks ago. The monarch's reply came this week.

To Helen Yurchek, Anna Opar, Tressa Sabatino and Lena Cerrone, King Edward wrote:

The Royal Palace,
London, England.
My Dear Friends:

It certainly is a great pleasure to know that there are a few girls in the United States who are interested in my future and especially the Kingdom. You girls are very fortunate to be employed in the Works Progress Administration. I will be very glad indeed to follow this letter with my picture, immediately.

Respectfully yours,
His Royal Highness,
King Edward the Eighth.

Mrs. Mary Morrow helped the girls write the letter.

Oil Paintings To Be Exhibited At Westminster

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 3.—Thirty-five oil paintings from the Butler Art Institute collection of Youngstown, O., will be hung in the Commuters' room at Westminster college, April 3-26, open to the public.

The collection is chiefly on Pennsylvania and Ohio backgrounds; and the artists are from Cleveland, North Jackson, East Palestine, and Alliance in Ohio; and Warren, Clarion, Pleasantville, and Franklin in Pennsylvania.

Among the artists whose works will be on exhibit are Samuel Rosenberg, Raymond Simboli, and Russell T. Hyde, on the faculty of Carnegie Tech. The paintings range in value from $50 to $300 each; and a few are not for sale.

The 35 paintings were chosen from the annual New Year's show, exhibited in various large cities. The subject matter varies from rural scenes in Pennsylvania and Ohio to urbans scenes in Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

IMPROVE SOIL FOR SUCCESSFUL GARDEN

Soil improvement is one of the most important steps in successful vegetable gardening.

Manure applied early, will add fertility and improve the condition and water-holding capacity of the soil.

Rye, clover, and other green crops are other substitutes for manure, but they should be turned down before they become tough or strawy.

Lime is needed on sour soils in sufficient amounts to grow clover. However too much lime is as bad as not enough. A sample of soil, taken from several places in the garden can be tested at the Agricultural Extension office, to learn whether lime is needed and how much. Some gardeners use unleached wood ashes which contain one-third lime.

Two sacks of fertilizer, containing 167 or 200 pounds, usually are sufficient to apply at the rate of one pound to 40 square feet or 1,000 pounds an acre.

On fertile soil or with a heavy application of manure, the greatest returns from fertilizer probably can be obtained from 16 or 20 per cent superphosphate. On medium or average garden soils, use a 4-16-4 with manure or a 2-12-4 without manure and on less fertile sand or shale soils use a 5-10-5.

As a rule, fertilizer is broadcast before spading or after plowing but before harrowing. It should be worked deeply into the soil. Row applications are made only in small amounts and to large-seeded or transplanted crops. The only safe method of row application is in solid bands about two inches deep and the same distance from the seed or plant.

SEED CORN CONDITIONS SHOW NEED OF TESTS

Seed corn is in bad condition. Reports from various sections of Pennsylvania, as well as other states, indicate germination running from nothing to 75 per cent. Even seed corn which received what is usually considered reasonably good care, is showing some poor germination.

Late maturity plus early freezes damaged the corn. The late maturing corn contained excessive moisture so that when the freezes came it was susceptible to severe damage.

With the condition worse than it has been since 1917, farmers are urged to test all corn for germination. There are several simple methods of doing this. Information on these methods may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension office, No. 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

SELECT BEST VARIETIES OF STRAWBERRY PLANTS

Strawberry planting time will soon be here and many growers are scanning the pages of nursery catalogs with the aim of selecting the varieties most suitable for their sections.

This problem is more serious than generally anticipated. Although nursery catalogs attempt to describe all varieties in a satisfactory manner, the grower still must select or guss at the variety most satisfactory for his conditions.

Since guessing is only about 50 per cent correct, half of the varieties selected that way are likely to prove unsatisfactory.

Varieties which have proved outstanding in Pennsylvania are, in the order of ripening: Howard 17 or Premier, Aberdeen, Dorsett, Fairfax, and Catskill.

Howard 17 and Aberdeen are the best yielders while Dorsett and Fairfax are superior in quality and market value.

OATS ARE GOOD FOR HENS IF NOT EATEN TOO MUCH

In recent years many poultrymen have fed whole oats to laying and growing birds to check cannibalism and feather eating. While the oats eating may not be a 100 per cent cure for the vice, the results accomplished by practical poultrymen show that it helps to modify the trouble.

If the oats weigh 36 pounds or more to the measured bushel, birds often will consume 25 per cent of the grain ration in oats by weight. Some poultrymen have kept a hopper of oats before the chickens at all times. In many flocks this system works satisfactorily.

Occasionally, some flocks will consume a large amount of oats and decrease their mash consumption. This results in reduced egg production. When so many oats are eaten that the mash consumption no longer is normal, the quantity of oats must be reduced.

NEED OF DRAINAGE IS QUITE OBVIOUS

As the countryside takes on the aspect of spring the fields of wheat, which have withstood the rigors of winter, add much to the landscape. However, accosional dead places and yellow spots show the presence of too much water in the soil.

Ofter a line of intercepting drain tile placed one rod above a wet area due to seepage will eliminate the trouble. Other places need lines through the ponds and draws. Help for this work can be had from the Agricultural Extension Circular 112, "Land Drainage in Pennsylvania," which can be obtained from the Agricultural Extension office, No. 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

The development of a more porous absorptive soil will prevent excessive run-off in time of storms and will go a long way to reduce flood damage and erosion such as we have recently experienced.

PREVENT DAMPING OFF

Damping-off of vegetable seedlings causes heavy losses unless control measures are used. The loss is heavier and more general on vegetables grown under glass, but moderate and even severe losses often occur under field conditions.

The several fungi causing damping-off are present in nearly all unsterilized soils and live on the seed coats of many seeds. Where soil sterilization is impractical chemical treatments for seed or soil may be used.

Complete details on the treatments can be obtained from the Agricultural Extension office, New Castle.

CLEANING HINTS

Now that bright sunshiny days have appeared again, we turn our thoughts to spring cleaning, reminds Miss Mary Vogle, Home Economics worker for this county. After a long, hard winter such as has just passed, there will be a great amount of spring cleaning needed.

Wals of making the house cleaning process easier and reducing the cost of cleaning will be very much in demand. Miss Vogle states that she has for distribution a series of leaflets on "House Cleaning Made Easier," giving methods of making crack filler, wall paper cleaner, detergent for removing spots, and furniture wax. Anyone desiring these leaflets should send their name and address with their request to Miss Mary Vogle, No. 206 Post Office building, New Castle.

REPAIR CLOTHING BEFORE GIVING IT AWAY

Homemakers in Lawrence county have generously heeded the call for clothing for their unfortunate neighbors. During the next few weeks we shall want to continue that help. Miss Mary Vogle, county home economics worker, urges that we inspect the family clothing supply again in the hope of locating more clothes, for those who still need them.

With more time to prepare further conritbutions, there are many things we can do that couldn't be attended to in the rush of filling the first emergency need. Many families have lost all their clothes and more garments will be needed as people realize the extent of their losses.

It is a great help, too, if we take a little time to put clothing in condition before sending it on to those who need it. The person who receives it may not have supplies with which to mend. "A stitch in time saves nine," and so let's mend the tears, sew up the ripped seams, and sew on the snaps and hooks that have been neglected.

We might brush the garments and, if they look too bad a little cleaning or pressing can be done easily. Many woolen, silk and rayon garments can be laundered with lukewarm water, and mild soap. They can be washed quickly by squeezing them in this soapy water. After rinsing thoroughly, dry quickly by rolling them in a bath towel. Garments shouldn't be wrung or twisted when wet. They may be pressed while slightly damp and should be thoroughly dry before packing in a box.

Hats can be freshened just by adding a new ribbon or lining. A good brushing aids in the appearance.

A shine and a new pair of laces will supply all the first aid some of our cast-off shoes need and so let's see that they have that attention. On others, soles and heels may need to be re-enforced.

To aid in the necessary sorting going on in relief offices it is a help to tag garments, shoes, hats, or gloves with the size numbers, or to pack them in a labeled box. This will also keep them in better condition.

Clothing for all ages and all types of people will be needed so we want to look well into the unused clothing in the household and not miss anything we can spare.

Tying playthings to the high chair tray where a baby can reach them saves constant washing of toys which otherwise would be flung to the floor.

British Rights At Headwaters Of Nile To Be Respected Is Statement

DIFFERS FROM EARLY WARNING

(International News Service)

ROME, April 3—In an apparent about face overnight on the part of the Italian government, the Milan newspaper Propoli D'Italia, Premier Mussolini's own newspaper, published an editorial today stating Britain's rights in the Lake Tsana sector of Ethiopia would be respected by Italy.

The editorial, ascribed by some to Il Duce himself, said:

"British rights regarding the waters of Lake Tsana and the Blue Nile remain and will continue to remain British rights in their full integrity."

Yesterday, following capture of Gondar, only 20 miles from Lake Tsana, by Italian forces, the Italian press unleashed a blast against Britain warning League of Nations sanctions must be lifted and that the British fleet in the Mediterranean must be withdrawn if Britain rights in the Lake Tsana region were to be respected.

Finland Hands Bill For $1,600,000 To United States

Claim Presented As Result Of Finnish Ships Being Detained In World War

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 3—Finland, the only European debtor nation which has met its obligations to the United States in full and in cash, has presented a claim for approximately $1,600,000 on behalf of the owners of 13 Finnish ships detained by American authorities in 1917 and 1918.

The claim was presented to the state department by Finnish Minister Erro Jarnefelt. It has been turned over to the legal section of the department with a view to determining who was responsible for detention of the ships and the reasons. If it is determined that detention was unwarranted, the federal government will accept responsibility and negotiations to settle the claim will be undertaken.

The actual loss claimed to have been suffered totals about $750,000. The balance represents accrued interest. Several of the shipowners reported their losses forced them into bankruptcy.

They allege the ships were detained merely on suspicion the crews were bolshevists, even though Finland at the time was battling against the bolshevists.

The custom of sending people on bootless errands or making them victims of practical jokes on April 1, has existed in Epropean countries for many centuries.

The first concrete road of which the U. S. Bureau of public roads has a record, was built in Bellefontaine, O., in 1893-1894. There were 4,400 square yards put down.

The chief gambling games played in the casino at Monte Carlo are roulette and trente-et-quarante with stakes ranging from 5 to 6,000 and 20 to 12,000 francs, respectively.

Men's Garden Club Formed

Meeting Held At Eckenroad Home On Fairfield Avenue

J. W. ANDERSON NAMED PRESIDENT

A group of representative men from New Castle and vicinity met together Thursday evening, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Eckenroad, on Fairfield avenue, for the purpose of organizing what will be termed the Men's Garden Club of New Castle.

This movement is growing rapidly throughout the United States and there is a national organization of men's garden clubs which is doing a splendid work. The local group is expected to materially add to the civic and community growth of New Castle and vicinity.

Organization was effected last night with a membership of 25 prominent men who adopted a constitution and by-laws and elected officers. J. W. Anderson was elected president; L. C. Black, vice president; N. R. Cassilo, secretary; B. K. Thacker, corresponding secretary; John Robinson, treasurer.

These officers, with Owen P. Fox, J. Frank Stevens and J. E. Oesterling will form the board of gardeners. C. A. Bolen was appointed press chairman. It was decided to meet the first Tuesday of each month and for the next date, May 5, a most interesting program is being arranged.

The men received a letter of congratulation, and also an invitation from the Steel City Garden club (the men's club of Youngstown) to join them in a meeting on April 6, at 8 in the evening, at the Legion Home, Spring street, Youngstown. A caravan of men will attend, and probobaly participate in a panel discussion that evening.

While the local group organized with 25 members, the charter will remain open for another month to others in the locality who might be interested in joining.

Lindberghs Will Not Know Fate Of Bruno For Days

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 3.—If Bruno Richard Hauptmann dies tonight, the Lindbergh family may not know about it for days.

The family plans to spend the week-end in the old-world cottage they have rented in Kent.

When that 8 o'clock deadline rolls around in Trenton tonight, it will be 1 a. m. here, and Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh and their son, Jon, will have been long abed, as undisturbed by thoughts of the Trenton death chamber as by the ghost of William Caxton, legendary inventor of printing, who is said by superstitious country-folk to "haunt" the present Lindbergh residence.

Mrs. Hauptmann Again Hears News Husband Must Die

All Hope Gone Is Message She Received At Early Hour This Morning

(International News Service)

TRENTON, N. J., April 3.—In the early hours of today, Anna Hauptmann, the woman who never lost faith, heard once more the sad news that her husband must die; that all hope was gone.

She pulled the door of her hotel room partly open to hear that the Mercer county grand jury had made her husband's execution almost inevitable tonight by refusing to indict Paul Wendel for the murder of the Lindbergh baby. She stood there, ghostlike in her paleness, swaying unsteadily, as though she heard but could not comprehend what was being said.

Then she let out an agonized wail that was almost like the rustle of death itself in its piteous intensity.

"Ach, mein Richard, mein leibe Richard!" she exclaimed. "Ach, Gott! How can they do dis."

Mechanically she pushed the door shut and stumbled backward into the room.

It is silly to call a dog "almost human." No dog can act delighted to see you when it isn't.

David Lamson Gets Liberty

Freed After Four Trials On Charge Of Murder In California

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
SAN JOSE, Cal., April A—David A. Lamson today went free.

The handsome former Stanford University press executive and campus idol—who entered San Quentin prison's death row to be executed as a wife killer in 1933—obtained his liberty when District Attorney Fred Thomas declined to prosecute him again.

DAVID LAMSON

Thomas, who ordered retrials of Lamson after the state supreme court in 1934 reversed the death penalty judgment, declared he believed it would be futile to further try the case. Twice since the high tribunal made its order, Lamson's fate has been placed in the hands of new juries—and each jury disagreed.

"I am happy; oh, so happy," Lamson declared. "I had expected the district attorney to demand another trial. I knew he was bitter—unjustly bitter—against me, an absolutely innocent man."

All Trolleys In Paris Replaced By Auto Busses

(International News Service)
PARIS—There will soon be no no more street cars in Paris.

The vast plan for replacing this antiquated means of transportation by modern, speedy autobusses—a plan approved several years ago by the municipal council—is nearly completed. Not only the cars but their tracks have disappeared from most of the main thoroughfares and within a few months the electric tram will have taken its place in history with other outmoded means of travel—at least, so far as Paris is concerned.

In 1934, 34 street car lines were abolished; in 1935, 33 more disappeared, and the final 18 will have been supplanted this year.

The last tramways will be replaced by 550 busses which are now under construction. The cost of the busses, their depots, garages, repair pits and incidental expenses amounts to $5,500,000, which has been unanimously approved by the city fathers.

"Wiseacres" Link Their Names

HOWARD HUGHES — FRANCES DRAKE

Hollywood wiseacres now link the names of Howard Hughes, millionaire picture producer, and Frances Drake, screen actress, following alleged "promises" exchanged by the two before Hughes left on a recent trip to the east. Hughes, who is also an aviation enthusiast and yachtsman, apparently has left his heart in Hollywood, in Frances' custody, if the rumors can be believed. Meanwhile, Miss Drake refuses definite answers but it is noticed that since Hughes' departure she has not been seen about with former admirers.

any outstanding character among those who took part in the production last evening. The entire cast went through its roles in a superb manner, and those who attended were loud in their praise of the splendid performance.

The difficult role of Elizabeth, mother of John the Baptist, was superbly interpreted by Miss Ruth G. Sample, as were the roles of Salome, by Miss Nellie Kudelco; Herodias, her mother, by Miss Betty Glover; and Mary Magdalene, by Mrs. Lois D. Arnold.

Rev. Rees T. Williams gave a splendid performance in the role of Caiaphas, the high priest, chief of the plotters against John the Baptist and Christ. The part of Malchus, nephew of Caiaphas, taken by Ivor V. Davis; Marius, a young Roman, by Jacob W. Carr of Butler; Herod, king of Galilee, by Emrys Davis of Mercer; Judas Iscariot, by Joseph C. Williams; John the Baptist, by J. Russell Urmson; Barannas, a Jewish Pharisee, by Louis A. Pearsall; Pontius Pilate, by Thomas C. Fleming of Butler; Nicodemus, by James R. Mead, were also parts which called for some splendid acting on the parts of their interpreters.

Other lesser parts which were also interpreted in an exceptional manner were those of Andrew, by William E. Clarke; Peter, by Merle C. Raisley of Beaver Falls; counselors, Harry G. Gibson and Charles E. Allen; a Levite, Dudley M. Arnold; lady attendants to Herodias and Salome, Dorothy Alborn and Joanna Raisley; Longinus and Shirez, officers in Herod's court, John H. Templeton and W. Earl Leslie; Mantis, officer in Pilate's court, James H. Elmore; maid in Pilate's court, Dorothy Alborn; captain of the guard, Leon A. Drumm; guards, Jesse N. Kerr, Ruben O. Kennedy, Albert A. Klingensmith, Clifford M. Propst, Clarence S. Jarrett, James H. Elmore and Harry S. Gibson; Nubian slaves, David J. Forrest, Bert Toth and H. Eugene Cranmer.

Nobles and ladies of the court, who served as attendants and sang the musical numbers which added to the production, under the direction of William W. Campbell, were: Agnes Skillen, Irene Antal, Lois McGill, Marie Hetzell, Mabel Carney, Helen Sample, Edith E. Mellor, Madeline N. Rugh, Helen S. Allen, Anna Mary Shaffer, Thelma C. Propst, W. W. Campbell, Robert E. McCluskey, Albert J. Genkinger, B. Arthur Harris, Paul W. Blocher, Arthur M. Lynn, Alfred H. Mellor, David W. Rees, Harry C. Urmson, James L. Fink, Samuel McCleary, Monas Harlan, Paul Gamble, William Cunningham, Robert Hogue and John Cassidy.

Miss Lillian H. Sarver presided at the pipe organ with Miss Dorothy Fisher at the piano.

Some of the scenes are tremendously dramatic, particularly those where the head of John the Baptist is claimed by his mother, Elizabeth; where the curse of leprosy strikes Barannas, one of the counselors; the bargaining with Judas for Christ's betrayal; and later, his dramatic suicide; the crucifixion; the slaying of Marius in mistake by Salome and her own suicide; and the Ascension.

As End of Trail Approaches for Bruno Hauptmann

Alone in his cell in the Trenton State Penitentiary, awaiting the last march, many scenes and people must flash through the mind of Bruno Richard Hauptmann. There was Walter Lyle who spotted him as the passer of ransom money; Betty Gow, the Lindbergh maid; the fatal ladder; Lindbergh, cold and remorseless; the ransom-note symbols; Isidore Fish; "Jafsie" Condon, the "Doktor"; Hauptmann's entrance into the Trenton Penitentiary; and the fatal words that decreed his death;—a long procession that will be with him until the switch is thrown.

Seek Construction Of Two Battleships

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

When you have creamed asparagus on toast, put the asparagus on the toast, then pour the cream sauce over both.

For milady who is partial to green a very lovely costume for the afternoon tea dance is a dark green corduroy suit trimmed with Persian lamb, topped by a draped turban of the same material with Persian lamb band. Again, suitable for the same occasion is a green satin costume with the blouse turning the shiny side out and the skirt with front fullness dull. It has a drawstring neckline which is held with a cord.

CLEAN THE BRUSH

Don't forget to clean your paint brushes every time you finish using them. This lengthens the life of the bristles. Ordinary coal oil or kerosene will clean them, if you don't happen to have any turpentine around the house.

Judge Gets Mallet In Place Of Gavel

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore., April 3.—District Judge John A. Mears is convinced that " it pays to advertise."

When thieves pilfered his only gavel, Judge Mears issued a statement to the effect that "I'd like to get my hands on the guilty person."

The judge didn't find the thief, but he did find a croquet mallet chained to his desk the following morning. He also found three new gavels, all donated to him by sympathetic court attaches. Judge Mears uses the croquet mallet, he said, "because I can't get it loose from my desk."

Mercer Rotarians Are Entertained

Rural Rotarians Act As Host To Club At Pleasant Valley Grange

(Special To The News)

MERCER, April 3.—The Mercer Rotarians enjoyed one of the outstanding events of the year when they were the guests of the "Rural Rotarians" composed of a group of representative farmers at the Pleasant Valley grange hall, Mercer-Grove City road.

The women's group served a chicken dinner to about 100. Following the dinner a delightful program furnished the entertainment. M. B. Orr presided as master of ceremonies, instrumental and vocal selections were furnished. The real treat of the evening came when E. L. Nixon, of State College, was introduced. He had a fund of homely humor used in his address on the philosophy of life. Judge George Rowley made a short address.

If the old folks are in the way, it's their own fault. They shouldn't try to run a house that doesn't belong to them.

War Secretary Makes Investigation Of Flood Control Situation

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 3.—Added impetus was given the Pittsburgh district's drive for flood control projects today by the visit of Secretary of War George H. Dern and Maj. Gen. Edward M. Markham, chief of the U. S. Army Engineers.

Meeting with flood control proponents, Secretary Dern and General Markham under whose direction flood control projects would be constructed toured the flood ravaged Pittsburgh district. Despite the district's mighty efforts toward rehabilitation and reconstruction, much evidence of the record St. Patrick's Day inundation and vivid evidences of the widespread suffering and damage remained.

At the same time, the tri-state authority, leading the battle for flood control projects in conjunction with the citizens flood committee and the Ohio conservancy and flood control congress, announced the fourteenth in a series of reservoirs for the Pittsburgh district had been approved by the army engineers. This dam would be built on the Youghiogheny above Ohiopyle, Pa., supplementing the 13 in the original tri-state program.

Preparations also were made by flood control advocates here to confer with Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, WPA administrator, who was to come to Pittsburgh Monday to address the community forum.

Canal Hearings Are Concluded

No Decision Expected For About 30 Days, Charges Of "Selfishness"

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Hearings were concluded here Thursday by the army board of engineers on the proposed development of a canal to link the Ohio river with Lake Erie and bring cheap water transportation to inland areas of Pennsylvania and Ohio.

In bringing the hearing to a close, Brig. Gen. George B. Pillsbury, chairman of the board, announced that the board would withhold reaching any decision for 30 days in order to give both opponents and proponents an opportunity to file additional briefs.

The end of the three-day hearing was marked by both the opponents, headed by the railroad interests, and the proponents, headed by representatives of the proposed Beaver-Mahoning route, flinging charges of "selfishness" at one another.

Beaver-Mahoning proponents, represented by H. H. Hoppe of Warren, O., and W. Y. English of Pittsburgh, charged the railroads with opposing the canal for fear of competition from cheap water transportation.

"A lot of fears for the future have been advanced and plenty of ifs but no reasonable doubt has been advanced by the opposition as to the soundness of the plan," English said.

J. J. Heard of the Upper Ohio River Valley association, representing the railroads, retaliated by asserting the chief beneficiaries of the canal would be the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company.

"No one has come in here except the Youngstown Sheet and Tube interests to say they would use the canal," he said. "No one else was interested enough to come here. There is no public advantage in transferring a ton of steel business from Wheeling, W. Va., to Youngstown. The stockholders of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company will be the chief beneficiaries."

If you are a poor trader and the effort to sell anything embarrasses you, the only way out is to accept poverty as inevitable and hate the system.

On Court House Hill

Former County Controller R. C. McCaslin of New Wilmington, was the first man to pay his county taxes following the issuing of tax cards by County Treasurer, Joseph H. Hartland. Another batch of cards were sent out to-day, and others will go out daily as fast as they are written up.

Mrs. Emma Buxton has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against W. J. Bradford for $1,053, alleged to be a balance due on rent for a house at 605 Spruce street.

Both the farm and the personal property of Ignacy and Anna Duzuk who live in Mahoning township on the Harbor and Pulaski road are to be sold by the sheriff next week, the farm at the court house on Monday and the personal property at the farm house on Tuesday. The farm consists of about 77 acres with five room house and other buildings. The farm was seized on an execution for $1500.

A petition for alimony and counsel fees has been presented by Mrs. Erma Grace Shiderly in a divorce case brought by her husband, William Fred Shiderly, of North Beaver township. Desertion is charged by the libellant. Mrs. Shiderly in her petition for alimony, denies the allegations of the libellant and says that she has a just and true defense to make to the charges. A rule has been issued on the libellant to show cause why the petition of Mrs. Shiderly should not be granted. The court has fixed Monday, April 13th as a time for a hearing on the rule.

County commissioners will be able to save the County of Lawrence considerable expense through the transfer of a patient from the hospital department of the Mercer county home to the Lawrence county home. The patient, James Sheatles, was sent to the Mercer institution from Hickory township, eighteen years ago, before the Lawrence county home here was established. He is paralyzed and perfectly helpless. He cannot even feed himself. Mercer county has been drawing $15 per week from Lawrence county for his care and maintenance. That would be $780 per year, or $14,040 for the eighteen years that Sheatles has been a charge on the county. The man is something over fifty years of age. He is apparently Slavish or Hungarian descent. He does not talk English, and in fact does not do much talking in any language. The commissioners figure that they can keep him at the county home for around $5 per week, or a saving of $520 per year.

Mrs. Anna Swarney presented a petition to court, asking that the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company, guardian for her husband, John Swarney, be discharged. The Lawrence Savings and Trust company was appointed guardian for Mr. Swarney when he was taken ill some time ago and was not able to look after his own business. It is now stated that he has completely recovered and able to take care of his property. Judge Chambers granted the petition.

Commission as a notary public for George B. Wilson of Ellwood City has been recorded at the register and recorder's office.

Complete personal registration list show that there are only 20 registered Socialist in the city of New Castle, 17 males and 3 females. This is quite a contrast to the vote at the time the Socialists were in power in this city.

AROUND CITY HALL

There has been presented to city council a report covering police activities for 1935. It shows that only one murder was committed. There were 1,042 persons arrested on a charge of drunkenness and an additional 172 who were taken into custody on the twin charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Only four persons were arrested on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. Police took 316 others into custody on a charge of being suspicious characters and 13 loiterers were lodged behind bars. Four interfered with an officer in the discharge of his duty. Only 11 were arrested for speeding but 354 were arrested for violating the parking ordinance and 76 were also handed tags for violating traffic regulations. Not one person was arrested for carrying concealed weapons. One was arrested for forgery, four for shoplifting, one for reckless driving, one for felonious assault, one for resisting an officer, 35 for gambling and 11 places were raided under the disorderly house ordinance. Seven were charged with being inmates of such places and 30 as visitors. Five hundred and forty-three of the 2,315 paid fines, and 80 failed to claim forfeits. Twenty-nine cases were pending when Mayor Charles B. Mayne left office. Of those arrested only 100 were sent to jail, although 88 were turned over to aldermanic custody and others to other than city police agencies. The fines for the year amounted to $2,266.

The police report for 1935 shows that drivers of other cars which damaged city police cars had to pay for the damage. In all, $34.75 was collected. Electric sign inspections brought the city $24 and licenses for such signs net the city $22.

The police department last year, according to the report, collected $1,819 from places where dancing was allowed. This amount was derived from permits to dance in regular dance halls or saloons where dancing is permitted. The annual license cost the dance hall proprietors $495. Other receipts raised the police departments receipts to $4,689.43, according to the report.

POLICE ARE ASKED TO SALUTE MAYOR

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 3.—Those snappy police salutes when the mayor drives by or meets a patrolman strolling past city hall are the result of an executive order by Mayor S. Davis Wilson, who believes in maintaining the proprieties.

No longer may hizzoner be haled with an unmilitary, if heart, "Hiya, mayor."

Wilson made this plain in a general ruling describing the proper way to greet the city's chief executive. The salute—with heels together and chest out—also has been ordered for the safety director and all other police officials, including the lowly sergeants.

CROP PLANTINGS

HARRISBURG, April 3.—Farmers in Pennsylvania, unless the soil conservation program alters present plans, will plant this year fewer acres in corn and potatoes, about the same number of acres in oats and hay, six per cent more in barley and eleven per cent more in tobacco, compared with 1935.

Ethiopia Asks For League Aid

Charges Are Made Against Italians In Message To League

REQUEST FOR MONEY IS ALSO PRESENTED

(International News Service)

GENEVA, April 3.—The League of Nations received a note from Ethiopia Thursday charging Italian troops were unable to defeat Ethiopian soldiers and so were systematically destroying women, children, the aged, hospitals and churches.

The note asked whether the league would "remain indifferent to its obligations under the covenant." It also contained a request for money, for lifting of arms embargoes against Ethiopia and for enforcement of all league sanctions against Italy, and asked that Rome be obliged to respect international rules of war.

Doctors Perform Caesarean On A Girl Of Twelve

(International News Service)

PEIPING, April 3.—Chinese doctors of a public hospital were confounded when a twelve-year-old girl was brought to them by a man posing as her brother, who explained that she was about to become a mother.

Because of the tender years of the little patient, the doctors decided to perform a caesarean operation. The mother survived but the baby, although born alive, subsequently died, thereby depriving history in China of the first baby to be born of so young a mother.

Brutal treatment of young girls in China has become the subject of official investigation by order of the Ministry of Interior. An edict instructs provincial and municipal authorities to investigate the number of slave girls everywhere.

Owners are warned to register their girls and steps will be taken for the unconditional release of slaves. The girls will then be permitted to take up work as maid servants or enter benevolent institutions in cases where they have neither parents nor positions open to them.

A fine awaits owners failing to register, while legal action will be taken against those refusing to free their slave girls when ordered to do so.

After seeing them all, our First Choice was KELVINATOR

We made up our minds all the sales arguments in the world would not influence our choice of a 1936 refrigerator for our patrons.

We looked at every make. We measured every model by the standards of what our customers had a right to expect of a refrigerator—and of us.

When we were through, we chose the Kelvinator.

We chose it because we had never seen a refrigerator that in one year had moved so far ahead of the field—because we saw no other refrigerator that had so much in refrigerator values to offer our customers—in real refrigeration, in actual economy, in dependable service.

It has Visible Cold—because it maintains ideal temperatures always, and shows, by a Built-In Thermometer, that food is kept surely, safely, dependably cold.

It has Visible Economy—because its operating cost is one-half to one-third that of many refrigerators now in use as is shown by the Certificate of Low Cost of Operation.

It has Visible Protection—because the manufacturer backs it by a Five-Year Protection Plan.

The new 1936 Kelvinator is not only the most beautiful refrigerator we have ever seen. It is the most convenient, for it offers a wealth of such conveniences as a flexible rubber grid in every ice tray.

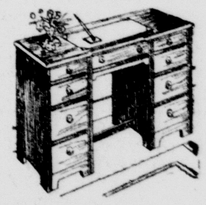

Whether you have an electric refrigerator or not, come in and see this amazing new Kelvinator. Let us tell you how easily you can own one.

Not Superstitious; Just Discouraged

Club Beginning To Think There's Such A Thing As Bad Luck

(International News Service)

WHEELING, W. V., April 3.—Many members of the Wheeling Anti-Superstitution society were beginning to think there must be something to this bad luck idea after all, though none of them would admit it.

The society is scheduled to meet every time the thirteenth day of the month falls on a Friday, but this past "unlucky day" found the "superstitution flaunters" unable to hold their meeting because of bad luck which befell them.

The group had planned to meet at a summer camp on Big Wheeling creek, but discovered only a few hours before, that the place had been sold to a party not sympathetic with the club's views. Hastily they secured permission to use another camp but the creek rose suddenly and blocked their entrance.

The club was to meet and break mirrors, walk under ladders, permit black cats to walk in front of them and generally disregard all rules concerning and governing "bad luck."

Attorney F. McKee, president of the organization, said:

"I'm still not superstitious, but I will admit I am a trifle discouraged."

STOLE CHICKENS TO GET MARRIED

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 3.—Admitting to police that he stole 28 chickens from a neighbor, last January, to obtain money for a marriage license, Marshall J. Biser, 22, of Thurmont, was jailed here recently.

Biser said he stole the chickens and sold them for $22. He then said he divided the money with his father, Charles Biser, who assisted him in the robbery. With his share of $11.15, he said he married Margaret Haugh, Mount Airy, Md., the following day.

OPPOSE CLOSING LITTLE RED SCHOOLS

(International News Service)

LORAIN, O., April 3.—The traditional little red school house may be doomed—but it will not go down without a struggle in Lorain county.

Rural residents of six townships made that clear when they opposed plans offered by G. R. Traxler, of the State Department of Education, to close 16 one and two-room schools in the county and transfer pupils to centralized schools.

Objections were entered against abandonment of all but five of the schools.

Timber Lands To Be Purchased

Government To Purchase 4,415 Acres Of Condemned Timber Land

WARREN-McKEAN TRACTS INCLUDED

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 3.—Government purchase of 4,415 acres of condemned timber land in Warren and McKean counties was ordered today by Federal Judge Nelson McVicar who designated $737,453.63 as the price to be set aside by the government.

The amount, which represents $167 per acre, is the highest price ever paid by the federal government for timber acreage, according to Stanley Granger, assistant United State district attorney.

The four tracts were ordered purchased from the Central Pennsylvania Lumber Company of Coudersport as part of the government program of forest preservation and control of the Allegheny river watershed. The program calls for the purchase of more than 400,000 acres in Elk, Warren, McKean and Forest counties.

No contest to the order was presented by the lumber company although it reserved the right to take off all hemlock, tan bark and hardwood timber on a 322 acre tract for a period of three years.

The tracts which Judge McVicar ordered purchased were:

1.—1,979 acres in Wetmore township, McKean county, five miles southeast of Sheffield, Pa. on Tionesta Creek, tributary of the Allegheny.

2.—60.63 acres in Sheffield township, Warren county, five miles southeast of Sheffield, Pa., on Cherry Run, Rock Run and the west branch of Fork Run, tributaries of Tionesta Creek.

3.—1,279.61 acres in Sheffield township, Warren county, five miles southeast of Sheffield, Pa., on Martin Run and Rock Run tributaries of Tionesta Creek.

4.—1,096.65 acres in Wetmore township, McKean county, on Fork Run, tributary of Tionesta Creek.

Chinese Girl Gives Views On Marriage

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 3.—After observing both methods of choosing life companions, Grace Quill, young Chinese girl attending the University of Pittsburgh, believes the "professional matchmaker" system employed in the land of her father isn't so bad after all.

Miss Quill admits that the large part played by parents and matchmakers is coming in for a lot of criticism from young Chinese people, but she is still not convinced that marriage would be more successful under the new scheme.

"I was born in Pittsburgh, but I lived in China, too," said Miss Quill. "There is much less divorce in China, even though unions are arranged by matchmakers. Marriages in China are the greatest events in people's lives, and no one chooses to remain single."

Wallet Returned After Five Years

(International News Service)

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 3.—A wallet lost five years ago was returned to its owner near here recently.

While attending the theological seminary at Lancaster, Pa., in 1934, the Rev. Edward T. Plitt, now pastor of the Cavetown Reformed church, lost his wallet between Baltimore and Lancaster. It contained eight dollars in notes and a newspaper clipping concerning himself.

Last week Mrs. W. M. Rutledge of Lancaster picked up a wallet, badly worn and practically useless, in front of her home. She sent the wallet, money and newspaper clipping to the Lancaster Seminary, where it was returned to the minister.

My New York By James Aswell

(Copyright, 1936, by Central Press Assn.)

NEW YORK, April 3—Interview with a small boy:

Q. What would you rather do than anything else in New York?

A. I'd rather see "Jumbo." Next to that I'd rather play Monopoly.

Q. Of all the buildings in New York, which one would you rather go up in?

A. The monkey house at the Bronx Zoo.

Q. I mean go up to the top—the observation tower. What high building would you rather see the town from?

A. Well, couldn't I climb onto the roof of the monkey house?

Q. We'll skip that. You've been away to a private school for several years. How would you like to go to one of the big public schools in New York and meet all sorts of new friends from all walks of life?

A. I thought I was on a vacation. Do you have to talk about school?

Q. This is a beautiful spring day. How about you and me going for a bus ride?

A. I want to go ice skating.

Q. But you've been skating all winter. This is spring. Don't you want to be out in the open air instead of in some enclosed rink with artificial ice?

A. No. I wish winter lasted the year 'round. The last time I was in New York the streets were full of ice. I liked New York this year because they didn't even try to clear the ice off the streets. They let it stay there. That's sensible.

Q. Yes, they did let it stay there. What about a trip to the Museum of Natural History? There are fossils and meteorites there millions of years old and all sorts of queer things.

A. What's that play, "The Children's Hour," about? Maybe we could see that first—and then go to the museum.

Q. I'm afraid you wouldn't like "The Children's Hour." But tell me. What have you seen today around town that interested you the most?

A. That crazy man in the subway.

Q. What crazy man? I didn't see any crazy man.

A. That man telephoning from a 'phone without any booth or anything and two or three trains running past and making so much noise he couldn't hear a word. He must have been crazy to pay a nickel for that.

Q. If you were coming to New York to live and you had all the money you wanted, what's the first thing you'd buy?

A. A Shetland pony.

Q. But how would you keep a Shetland pony in an apartment?

A. I'd tie him up to a fire plug outside until I needed him. Maybe in cold weather I could tip the elevator boy and he'd let me take my pony upstairs.

Q. But suppose the other tenants objected?

A. Well, it would be hard on the pony, too, making him live in an apartment. If the pony didn't mind, I don't see why the people should.

Q. Let's see, where were we? Oh, yes, I wanted to ask you what you liked best in New York.

A. The best thing in New York is summer vacation. The next best thing is Christmas vacation and the third best thing is Easter vacation. Can we go ice skating now?

Abandon Hope For Life Of Bishop

(International News Service)

ALTOONA, Pa., April 3—All hope was abandoned today for the recovery of Bishop John J. McCort, 76, of the Altoona, Pa., diocese, who has been a patient at the Mercy hospital Johnstown, Pa., the past month, according to a bulletin from the bishop's house here.

The bulletin said Bishop McCort's condition was very grave. A native of Philadelphia, the bishop came here to assume his present position 16 years ago.

RIVER TRADE SHOWS IMPROVEMENT SIGNS

(International News Service)

CHARLEROI, Pa., April 3.—With the inauguration of a new towing service on the Monongahela, which brings barge delivery of gasoline to all points southward as far as Morgantown, heavy demands upon transportation facilities of the river have resulted in important boat purchases and transfers.

The Crucible Fuel Co., operating mines in the sixth pool, has purchased the steamer Atha to take care of local pool trade. The company boat "Crucible," of the company, has been transferred to the upper Ohio river. Captain Owen Legon, of Charleroi, has taken over the command of the Atha, formerly the "Charley Clarke" and one of the older type of towboats on the three rivers.

SWANSDOWN PURE FOOD TINTS

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SUBSTITUTE'S WAY HARD

Have you ever heard your child say, 'Today we had a substitute?" Did he say it with enthusiasm? Hardly. I cannot recall a single instance when any one of our children spoke with delight about a substitute teacher, especially in the grades. To the adolescent student the "sub" does not appear so objectionable. This older child has several different teachers a day; he has learned adaptation to different personalities. The younger child has one teacher and is usually attached somewhat emotionally to her. The older child may actually find some pleasure at bedeviling the substitute teacher.

At any rate, the ways of the substitute teacher are hard. Any reader who has substituted knows the problem. When you are a substitute, particularly if for a day, you do not know what the class has covered or what it is able to do; nor do you sense the resistance of the youngsters, you are yourself not quite serene. Rarely does the substitute prove as efficient in teaching, regardless of her training, as the regular teacher. On this account the regular teacher, on returning—when rarely at her best physically—finds her task increasingly difficult.

Facts Reported On Substitutes.

In 1927 Dr. F. H. Conners published a study on the substitute teacher. Present conditions are undoubtedly not so good as then. In most schools the number of substitutes is about one-seventh that of regular teachers. Most are part-time. Some large cities have full-time substitutes. The qualifications of a substitute are lower than of a regular teacher, and the salary is lower. The average pay in 1927 was $5.80 per day in the grades, and $6.50 in the high school. About 40 per cent of the substitute's salary was made up of deductions from the regular teacher who was absent. Most rural schools suspend operations when the teacher is absent.

Absence of teachers is somewhat seasonal, being highest in January, February and March. Monday has the largest number of absences in any week. Absence is greater in elementary grades than in high school, and for women than for men. But absence by teachers is less frequent than among industrial workers.

Common sense would seem to dictate that the substitute teacher not only should be as well qualified as the regular teacher, but even better, and that he or she should be a very versatile and adaptable person; that instead of being more poorly paid than the regular teacher, the substitute should be better paid.

I once came across an industry which had what it called the "flying squadron", made up of superior, well-trained and well-paid persons capable of making good substitutes in practically any position. To my knowledge no such principle of efficiency has ever been applied in schools.

NEW CASTLE HIGH GOES TO HARRISBURG

Scheduled For Practice Drill At Mosque Floor

New Castle High "Red Hurricane" On Scene Of State Finals Game

Battle Newport High Saturday Night At 8 P. M. In Zembo Mosque

Ten determined fighting sons of Pa Newc left at 7:15 a. m. on the Pennsy railroad from the west side station in a special car bound for Harrisburg, where Saturday night New Castle High "Red Hurricane" basketball team, western regional champions, will clash with Newport High, eastern regional titleholders. The game will be played at Zembo Mosque floor. The contest will start at 8 o'clock.

Never before in the history of New Castle has a high school team been in the limelight as potential state champion. There is a big wave of interest here in the game, but it is unfortunate that the state fathers have decreed that the game be played at Harrisburg.

Sixteen In Party

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner and Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh led the New Castle party as it boarded the Pennsy train today. The party consisted of sixteen, three coaches, faculty manager, ten players, student manager and a New Castle News sports writer.

The New Castle team was due in Harrisburg at 2:31 p. m. The team will be taken to the Penn-Harris hotel for their headquarters during the stay in the state capital.

Practice Session

At 4 o'clock this afternoon Coach Bridenbaugh was to acquaint the fighting young sons of New Castle to the spacious Mosque floor where the titantic struggle will take place. A light drill will be held with the boys going over the various plays and defenses.

Coach Bridenbaugh got his final glimpse of the boys on the home court Thursday afternoon and pronounced them fit and ready for the battle of their young lives. New Castle will have to be every bit as good as the night they played Rankin to take the Newport team into camp.

Want To Win

If ever a New Castle High team wanted to win, it is this 1936 "Red Hurricane" team. The boys can make history at New Castle High by a victory tomorrow night. The strain is not expected to get the boys nervous. In the tourney games at Pittsburgh the Bridenbaughmen did not show signs of nervousness.

It will take cool deliberate shooting and clever defense work to stop Newport High. "Doc" Voshefski the Newport 125-pound bundle of dynamite is the only worry for the locals. Against Lebanon's fine team the other night this mite of a forward flipped in 17 of the points. A whole team in himself. Domenick "Jap" Covelli will be assigned the job of watching this phenomenal young man.

Expect Tough Battle

This much is certain, New Castle High will not enter the game overconfident. The boys realize that they are stacking up against the best in the entire eastern half of the state, and that it will be a task worth the effort to take the glory from the Newport team from Luzerne County. New Castle has the underdog role again. Newport has the advantage of one game at the Harrisburg floor.

The entire western half of the state will be watching this New Castle "Red Hurricane" Saturday night. The good wishes of hundreds of basketball fans over the entire W. P. I. A. L. and the N. W. P. I. A. L. go with the New Castle boys to the state capital.

Capable Reserves

New Castle will probably lineup with the same crew that started the Sharon and Franklin Borough games, with Johnnie Carik and Dal Mumford at the forward spots, with Eddie "Bus" Strausbaugh at center, and Dom Covelli and George "Pop" Adams at the guards. The capable reserves will be Nocera, Dutkin, and Grommes.

Really the secret of the success of the New Castle team this year has been the capable boys who fill the reserve roles. Bridenbaugh can take one boy out and put another equally as good in his place, and that is what wins basketball games.

Denver "Y" Ineligible For U. S. Olympics Anr Wilmerding Gets Chance

West Bennett, the nation's leading basketball scorer and Westminster star, and Jerry Newton, former Westminster ace forward, are with the Wilmerding "Y" team in New York city for the U. S. Olympic basketball trials.

Denver defeated Wilmerding by one basket, and therefore the Wilmerdings still remain in the running for an Olympic berth.

Pittsburgh Makes Five Double Plays; Believed To Be A Record

GIANTS NOSE OUT CLEVELAND, 6-5

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., April 3.—Lefty Gomez will pitch for the New York Yankees here today when they play the Atlanta Crackers. The McCarthymen quit Birmingham, Ala., yesterday after beating the Barons, 6 to 5.

Clearwater, Fla., April 3.—Casey Stengel's Brooklyn Dodgers left here today on their northward trek with the first stop scheduled at Portsmouth, Va., tomorrow. The Dodgers defeated the International league Newark Bears, 10 to 5, at Sebring yesterday.

Greenwood, Miss., April 3.—The New York Giants today had cut the lead of the Cleveland Indians in their barnstorming tour series down to one game as a result of their 6 to 5 victory over the Indians here yesterday, in the ninth game of the series of 17. The New Yorkers won on a single in the ninth inning by George Davis.

Lakeland, Fla., April 3.—Manager Mickey Cochrane cut his 1936 Detroit Tiger squad to 26 players, three above the player limit, here today as the Tigers broke camp and entrained for Columbia, S. C., first stop on a nine-game northbound tour with the Cincinnati Reds. The last two players who felt the ax were Joe Hare, sent to Toledo on option, and Ray Phebus, sold outright to Chattanooga. The Tigers were defeated by the Browns, 8 to 3, in their local exhibition game yesterday.

Paris, Tex., April 3.—Bush and Whitehead were slated to start the Piraes off here today from the mound as the Pittsburghers continue their barnstorming tour with the Chicago Whitesox. Weaver will relieve Bush. The Sox fell 12 to 8 before the Pirates at Tyler yesterday when the Buccaneers were believed to have hung up a spring exhibition record of five double plays.

Knoxville, Tenn., April 3.—Connie Mack and his gang of Athletic rookies today were a much mortified major league team as an aftermath of a 10 to 2 drubbing by the Knoxville nine. The game, played with the mercury in the low 40s, was halted at the end of the seventh inning.

Kissimmee, Fla., April 3.—After losing a hard fought exhibition game to the Baltimore Orioles, 7 to 5, the Phillies today again headed northward. Home runs played a big part in the game won by the Orioles. Nine of the runs, four made by Baltimore and five by the Phils, were the results of circuit clouts.

Thomasville, Ga., April 3.—Young Mike Kowalik, rated the Chicago Cubs' No. 5 starting pitcher on the basis of his showing thus far this spring, will get the call against the Red Sox here today. Yesterday Lon Warneke proved there is nothing wrong with his supposedly ailing arm by going the full route against the Bostonians. The Cubs won 4 to 1.

Paris, Tex., April 3.—Zeke Bonura, erstwhile White Sox holdout, began a strenuous training period here today, as his teammates prepared to play their seventh games with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Johnny Whitehead doing the pitching. Bonura joined the Sox yesterday, greeted Manager Jimmy Dykes with "I know what to expect. Youre going to run me to death I suppose." Dykes answered, "You said it. When I get through running you your mileage is going to be plenty high, your weight plenty low.' Monty Stratton's homerun ball aided the Pirates in a 12 to 8 victory over the Sox yesterday.

Kraft Is On Winning Team

John Kraft, a former New Castle resident, and star athlete, was a member of the team which captured the championship of the Socony Vacuum Oil company basketball league, according to word received from New York.

In the championship setto, Kraft, playing guard, scored three field goals and held his opponent scoreless. This marked the first time in the history of the circuit that the "26 Broadway Team" captured the laurels.

LINCOLNS VS. JUNIORS

Tonight on the Lincoln-Garfield floor, the Lincoln Tigers will oppose the Juniors in what should be a fast setto. The Juniors captured the Class League laurels at Senior high. Manager Fred Marcella, of the Lincolns, is trying to book a contest with the Beaver Falls Purple Hearts, Beaver Valley champs, featuring Lou Veltri all W. P. I. A. L. player.

Exoneration For All Principals In Fatal Boxing Bout

State Athletic Commission Makes Ruling On Punxsutawney Tragedy

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 3.—The State Athletic Commission has completely exonerated all principals in the fight in which Paul Herts, amateur boxer, was fatally injured during a ring match at Punxsutawney several weeks ago, International News Service learned Thursday.

Reports of the commission's district deputy, the coroner and examining physicians, Commissioner William D. McClelland, said, show that Herts was accidentally killed when his head struck the ring floor while boxing with Rex Smith.

Deputy Boxing Commissioner Jacob Kantar of Curwensville, filed his report on the fatality Wednesday after some delay due to flood conditions. He reported that all boxing rules and regulations as to ring construction, glove measurements and medical examinations had been complied with and that Referee Russell Love of DuBois, Pa., had officiated in accordance with the commission's dictates.

The youth, according to the report, suffered a "fracture at the right base of the skull" and "subdural hemorrhages" when his head struck the floor. Other reports submitted were those by Drs. H. W. Lyon and G. M. Musser, attending physicians, and Coroner Gilbert Hulme of Jefferson county.

White Sox Team May Be Surprise To Junior Circuit

Manager Jimmy Dykes Has Chicago White Hose Hustling In Camp

Team Will Remain Almost The Same As At Close Of 1935 Season

By JIM GALLAGHER
International News Service Sports Writer.

TYLER, Tex., April 3.—All the estimates of the 1936 White Sox simply have to take into consideration the team's accomplishments in 1935.

These White Sox don't look like much of a team. Yet Manager Jim Dykes and his assistants vow it's a better club than it was last spring—and they were the sensation of the American league in 1935 until they were crippled by injuries to key men early in August.

Two major changes, with a possibility of a third, have been made in the Sox lineup. Mike Kreevich, a husky little man from Kansas City, replaces the great Al Simmons, and a gangling young Texan named Monty Stratton suppliants old Sam Jones on the pitching staff.

First Base Unsettled.

The third possible change is Mule Haas or some fellow as yet unknown may play first base instead of pianolegged Zeke Bonura, who came to terms after a long holdout campaign.

Manager Dykes vows the big Italian must win his job back from Haas. The veteran outfielder, trying his hand in the infield for the first time, is a better fielder than Bonura, though he lacks Zeke's power at the plate. At that, Haas' .291 average in '35 doesn't look much worse than Bonura's .295.

Piet At Second.

The rest of the infield includes Tony Piet at second, Luke Appling at short and Dykes at third. It's a good combination, with fair power at the plate. Joe Morrissey, who can play any infield position well, and Jackie Hayes, a good second baseman and a fine spring hitter, will be the infield reserves. Dykes thinks his infield much better than last season, when he had Hayes at second and Glenn Wright and Marty Hopkins as utility men.

Rip Radcliff will play left field. He's a good hitter, a slick leadoff man, and a fair fielder except on flies hit over his head.

Kreevich At Center.

Kreevich will play center. He's a stocky, square-built little fellow who had a trial with the Cubs in 1933, but who has gained plenty of power at the plate since then. Dykes says of him:

"He's a fine hustler, and a pretty good ball player with a great arm. I think he'll cover as much ground in center field as Simmons, and I know he'll hit more than Simmons did last season, and more than Simmons would ever hit for the Sox."

Right field will go either to Vern Washington, the heavy-footed, lefthanded slugger who had the job last season, or to Haas, if Bonura or someone else should play first.

Stumpf Looks Good.

George Stumpf, another Kansas City graduate who once played with the Red Sox, probably will be the utility outfielder. He has been handicapped by a sore arm but looks like a fair outfielder, and a good left-handed hitter.

Dykes thinks his outfield, also, is improved over the 1935 combination of Radcliff, Simmons and Washington, with Haas and Jocko Conlan in reserve.

The catching will be the same, with Luke Sewell doing most of the work, aided by Mervyn Shea and Frank Grube. Dykes believes Sewell is the best man to handle young pitchers in the league.

Bank On Whitehead.

Muddy Ruel, now on the active list, will become a coach May 15. George Caithamer, a promising young receiver, will be farmed out.

On his pitching, Dykes says:

"Last spring, we didn't know if we had any pitchers. Now we know that in John Whitehead and Vernon Kennedy we have two of the finest right-handers in the league. Ted Lyons' comeback last year proved his arm has regained its strength, and he should be good for 15 wins again this season.

"Les Tietje came back well after a poor start last season. Kennedy, Whitehead, Lyons and Tietje give us a good four-man staff, and I'm confident that young Stratton will be even more sensational than was Whitehead last summer. The kid has everything. He can pitch overhand to left-handed hitters, and sidearm to the right-handers. His sidearm fast ball, a sinker, is as good as any I ever saw."

Stratton replaces Jones, who won seven games in 1935.

For reserves, Dykes has Babe Phelps, Jack Salveson and Whit Wyatt, all of whom he had last season.

Need Good Hurlers.

Two rookie right-handers, Red Evans and Ira Hutchinson, also hope to stick. Evans, the leading pitcher of the Texas league, has a nifty curve but not much of a fast ball. Hutchinson has a swell fast ball—a slider reminiscent of Fred Marberry at his best.

The club still has no southpaw. Italo Chelini, a nice looking young boy with a good fast ball, still needs plenty of experience.

Dykes, always cautious, publicly declares that he expects the Sox to finish fifth once more. Privately, he has confided to friends that he wouldn't be surprised to see his team finish in the first division for the first time since 1920.

It doesn't look like that good a ball club. But you can't laugh off what it did last year.

SWIMMER ONCE AFRAID OF WATER

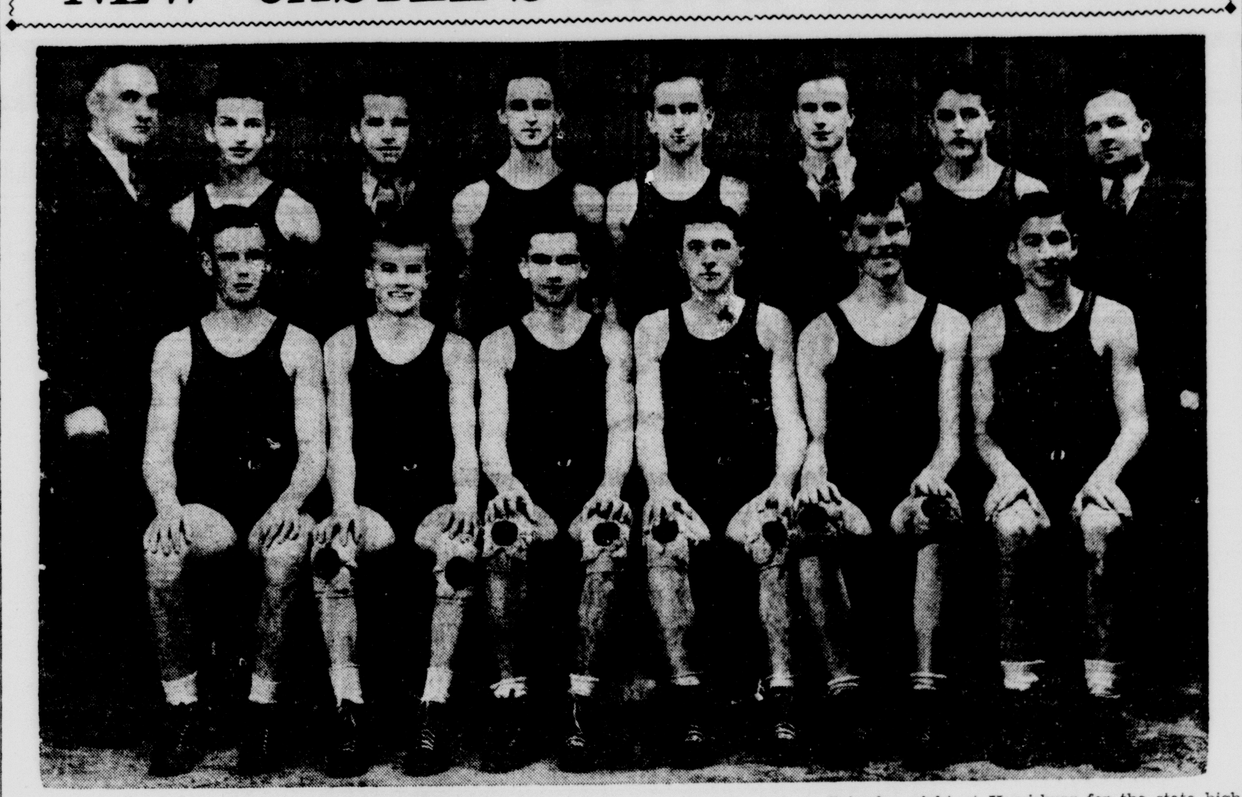

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 3.—That a former handicap often is the motivating force behind champions was proved here recently in the case of Thomas Locke, Pitt sophomore and consistent winner of the Panther swimming team.

Afraid of the water as a boy, Locke decided to learn to swim to prove to himself he wasn't a coward. This year he broke the 500-yard free style and the 440-yard free style university records.

He also won the senior Allegheny Mountain Association A. A. U. 500-yard free style swim, dethroning the Pitt swimming captain, Russ Lindberg, holder of the record last year.

Watch Sarazen, Word At Tourney

Appears To Be Headed For Top At Augusta Masters Championship

HARD COMPETITION CERTAIN, HOWEVER

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

AUGUSTA Ga., April 3.—"Watch Sarazen."

This, as a matter of corrugated fact, was what the 53 remaining entries were not saying this morning as they sewed themselves into their bed clothes and went out among the rigors of a southern spring day for the first eighteen holes of the annual Masters golf championship. It was being said, at least tacitly and inferentially, by Sarazen.

Taking the 1935 champion strictly on his own recognizance, of all the golf being exposed around this sodden and wind-blown rendezvous at the moment, he likes his own the best. He admitted privately that he has been telling everybody that Henry Picard, the professional bellwether, and Robert T. Jones, host, front-man and check picker-upper, are a cinch and that he, Sarazen, hasn't a chance. But, it seems this all comes under the head of strategy.

In other words, if you're going to bop somebody on the features, it's Sarazen's idea that there's nothing like a private punch on the nose. He intimated that he had been resting up during the recent dampness, which turned out to be only a trivial cloudburst, and is now ready to apply the bop.

Sarazen, Picard and Mr. Jones, who seems to be impressed with the idea that he might be able to master this game, were joint favorites in the especially selected field that has been brought here to the Augusta national course to make Mr. Jones annual coming-out party a success. But whereas Jones, suddenly recapturing the touch that made him the greatest of all golfers before and through the season of 1930, had been the hot tip of the tournament, the rain of Wednesday brought on some serious doubts.

He had been shooting the course in 64's, 66's, 67's and sometimes a discouraging 70 but it was light and fast then and it's heavier than an old soubrette now.

Nobody previously could touch him here on the pitch and run shot up to the pins, a shot especially created for greens that are bigger than the average city hall plaza. But with most of the greens in a fluid condition, the old fashioned pitch is plenty good enough and that just about makes everybody equal.

Of course the mud and water have increased the chances of the long hitters, who include Jimmy Thompson, Lawson Little, the amateur champion who has decided to go over to the Philistines because he wants to take up eating in habit-forming doses, Sarazen and Jones himself. Craig Wood, beaten by Sarazen last year by an "act of God" and an 18-hole play-off, is another robust hitter and Picard is not too short to be greatly troubled in any going.

Eight Teams Will Battle For Right To Represent U. S. At Olympic Games

GIANTS COMPOSE ALL FLOOR TEAMS

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 3—On an idle day some 45 years ago, young Jim Naismith got hold of an idea and an empty peach basket at the same time and the game of basketball was born.

Tonight, Dr. James A. Naismith, 74 year old professor of physical education at the University of Kansas, will be in Madison Square Garden to watch his brain child exemplified by the best eight teams in the United States.

For six hours the garden will be a bedlam of basketball as these great quintets battle through the semi-finals for the right to represent Uncle Sam at the Olympic games in Berlin.

These eight teams have been selected after a series of elminations covering every part of the country. They are the cream of the crop. And what a crop! The good doctor says he never dreamed the game he invented so casually would grow into such a major sport with hundreds of thousands playing and millions watching.

When he looks at the giants who comprise these teams Dr. Naismith must wonder why he didn't hang his peach basket higher for these lads are so tall they can almost put the ball in the basket without throwing. They run from six feet to six feet nine. They tell me when modern basketball coaches land a player under six feet they toss him back in front the hook to give him a chance to grow.

The McPherson Oilers, the A. A. U. champions, who average a mere 6 feet 2½ inches, are a slight favorite to land on top. They tackle Temple University tonight just after the University of Kansas Five hooks up in a 50-50 battle with the Universal Pictures quintet.

A whirlwind bunch from Utah State college is generally rated a shade better than the Wilmerding, Pa. "Y" team but the game between the Washington Huskies and the De Paul University Five is looked on as a toss-up.

Coaches of the cage game from every part of the country will sit in at the festivities tonight and tomorrow and it may be a more uniform interpretation of the rules will result. It's certin they will learn how the game should be played. And Mr. Naismith may regret he didn't hang his first basket at the ceiling.

Mahoning Players Banquet Tuesday

All members of the 1935 Mahoning A. A. baseball club, have been invited to attend a banquet at Columbus hall, Tuesday night. Manager Nick Cangie will be the master of ceremonies. He has been manager of the team for the past seven years. The team has always been one of the fastest in this section. Following the banquet the team will be organized for 1936. Nicholas Calvanese is the business manager.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Wilmer Allison defeated Arthur Hendriz in the quarter finals of the River Oaks tennis tournament at Houston, Texas, yesterday. He was called upon to employ all his cunning and he accomplished the win by taking the last set 6-4. Hendrix took the first set 8-6 and Allison took the second 7-5. Allison is ranked as the nation's No. 1 star and is captain of the U. S. Davis cup team.

Seven amateur bouts have been arranged by Dr. W. D. McClelland, state athletic commission at the Syria Mosque, Pittsburgh, for Monday night. The receipts will go to flood victims. Some of the best amateurs in the country will compete. Jack Demsey and Joe Louis have donated their services as referees.

Peter Flick of the New York Athletic club swam 100 yards in 51 seconds, world record time, in the national A. A. U. men's senior swimming championships at Chicago yesterday. The mark equals the mark made by Johnny Weismuller in an exhibition nearly nine years ago.

Registered or registerable dogs in the United States are valued at $40,000,000, according to statistics of the American Kennel clubs. The investment in kennels throughout the United States is represented at $75,000,000, according to the figures. The statistics show there are 10 distinct breeds of dogs with the Boston terrier ranking first in popularity this year and the cocker spaniel second. One million persons witnessed dog shows last year.

Keystone A. C. Captures City And County Title On Thursday Night

In a fast game that thrilled a large crowd, the Keystone A. C. basketball team annexed the city and county title as a result of its scintillating triumph over the Polish Falcons, 33-31, Thursday night on the K. Pulaski floor.

This was the second victory of the week for the "Keys" over the Falcons. The Keystone club recently won the city church league pennant. At the half the Keystones held a 24-15 lead. With only a few minutes left, the Falcons rallied and were behind by one point. Gallagher scored a field goal near the end of the setto. F. Stock Market Is Irregular Today

Light Profit-Taking Has Some Effect In Early Trading

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 3.—Light profit-taking turned the stock market irregular today, after stocks had moved into new high ground at the start.

Generally higher levels prevailed in the rail department. Pennsylvania, Delaware & Hudson and Baltimore & Ohio were fractionally improved, while Union Pacific ran up about a point.

Steels were leaders at the start, as Bethlehem crossed 60 into new high ground, but gave way in later dealings. Bethlehem lost most of its point gain and U. S. Steel fell fractionally.

Chrysler was erratic, sinking to around 99¾, its previous close. General Motors and Auburn ruled somewhat lower.

Moderate buying in the food section lifted corn products more than two points, while Standard Brands and National Biscuit climbed fractionally. Oils, too, were mostly higher under the lead of Standard of N. J. and Texas Corp.

Bonds displayed a strong tone. Grains and cotton were moderately higher.

National Youth Program Launched In Ellwood City

Young People To Start On Year's Work From School Project

ELLWOOD CITY, April 3.—The program of the National Youth Administration in Ellwood City is off to a satisfactory start on the year's program.

It is the hope of those in charge that the work done will be constructive and beneficial, not only to those working on the program, but also to the borough of Ellwood City as a whole.

In order that a program of this kind might be carried on, it is necessary that all civic and public service groups in each community cooperate. In Ellwood City there has been given, not only cooperation but also, a keen interest has been shown in the success of the youth program.

This is a sign of real progressive spirit, for any community can progress only as far as its youth is trained to fit into tomorrow's work.

Both time and thought have been expended on the part of the N. Y. A. leaders and cooperating agencies in an effort to place every youth where the work being done will better qualify each one for future employment. As time goes on, it is planned to find employment, wherever possible, through the schools and other agencies, whereby each person will gain experience which will assist him or her in carrying on a future work to which the individual is peculiarly adapted.

The interest in this effort on the part of school authorities in particular has been very keen and assistance has been willingly given to find employment varied enough to suit every young person on the program.

Much care has been taken to see that all work done will add something to the development of the person working on the youth program, to assist him or her in becoming more valuable as a citizen of this community, and, which will assist each in finding his or her life's work wherever possible.

It is the responsibility of those in charge of the N. Y. A. groups to provide the proper guidance through private individual conferences, that will be beneficial in encouraging the youth of each community to find a place in life) which will make it possible for each one to make a life as well as a living.

Through such guidance an effort will be made to learn what is the hope and desire for the future of each one on the N. Y. A. program. An effort will also be made to assist each person to realize any hopes for future work or accomplishment, and no stone will be left unturned on the part of N. Y. A. authorities to make possible the realization of the ambition of each and every youth on the program.

PLAN KINGFISH RODEO IN TEXAS FOR CENTENNIAL

(International News Service)

FREEPORT, Texas—Plans have been completed here for a Kingfish rodeo the week of July 4, as an attraction for visitors to Texas this year during the state's celebration of the centennial of her freedom from Mexico.

While deep-sea fishing rodeos, roundups and contests have offered prizes for the most or largest, the Freeport rodeo will be the first in which the kingfish is elevated to the top. Usually the wily tarpon heads the prize list of the finny kingdom at Gulf rodeos.

The favored way of taking the king is with light tackle and plugs, although many are caught while trolling from a moving boat, and some are the victims of shrimp.
